Britain Rushes To Double Armaments

London, Uneasy Over Developments In Spain, Seeks Parliament Approval Of Most Costly Peace-Time Program To Bolster Defense.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—The British government asked parliament today to approve what probably is the costliest peacetime rearmament program in history, its purpose strengthened by uneasy developments in the European struggle for mastery of Spain and the Mediterranean.

A two-day debate on defense opened in the house of commons.

It promised important revelations on foreign policy, Britain's present strength or weakness and the progress of rearmament.

The resolution to increase the government's borrowing power for defense from 400,000,000 pounds ($2,000,000,000) to 800,000,000 pounds ($4,000,000,000) was to be moved by Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer.

Defense in the coming financial year will cost the staggering sum of £580,000,000 ($2,900,000,000), as announced in a government white paper Feb. 15.

The British public eagerly awaited possible hints as to how the money would be raised—whether entirely by loans or partially through increased taxation.

The opposition was not opposing a huge speed up in armament but prepared a demand for fuller information on the government's plans and a criticism of "glaring weaknesses" in defense preparations.

The Socialists were expected to press for a government statement on whether a large expeditionary force would be sent to aid France if Britain's ally became involved in war.

Britain may recognize the Burgos Nationalists as the government of Spain within a short time although indications grew that Anglo-French proposals for a Spanish truce were meeting a cool reception from Generalissimo Franco.

Precipitates Crisis.

When and if the Spanish peace is reached—possibly within a week or two—diplomats are expected to see Europe's most dangerous situation come to a head. Both Paris and London are afraid Premier Mussolini, with a large army in Spain, won't withdraw it unless France meets his demands.

Significant developments over the week-end included:

1. Report that President Roosevelt was ready to break his southern holiday because of the European situation.

2. A London report, not confirmed in Rome, that Italy called

BATTLE BLAZE

Bucket Brigade Saves Church at New Haven.

WILLARD — All New Haven turned out Saturday afternoon to save that community's hundred-year old Methodist church from destruction, when fire was discovered in one of the walls of the old landmark by Mrs. Sam Danhoff, and the old bell in the wooden tower sounded the alarm.

When fire departments from Willard, Plymouth and Norwalk refused to answer the call for help because New Haven has no arrangements with them for fire protection, an old-time bucket brigade of 50 men was formed and every available bucket in the town was placed in service.

The roof and walls of the church, which was built in April, 1839, were damaged, but the congregation decided yesterday to make repairs. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Members of the congregation met for services yesterday in the New Haven High school.

Rescue Crews Carry Food To Snow-Bound Village.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(AP)—New Mexico state highway crews, after breaking through 22 miles of snow-clogged mountain roads yesterday to get needed food to Hickman, N. M., continued north today along the western slope of the continental divide to open the road to another snowbound village, Adams Diggings, about 18 miles northwest of Hickman.

State Police Captain Ed Jackson said he did not think Adams Diggings was badly in need of food.

FRANCO TO SEE HITLER, DUCE

'Radical Solution of Franco-Italian Crisis' Due Before March 15, Rome Hears.

(By International News Service)

ROME—Despite official disclaimers in Berlin and elsewhere, it was confirmed in authoritative diplomatic sources here today that Premier Mussolini, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and Generalissimo Francisco Franco plan to meet sometime before March 15 to decide upon joint action "for a radical solution of the Franco-Italian crisis."

At the same time, however, official Italian sources discounted rumors of a grave crisis arising from French military occupation of a strip of Somaliland ceded to Italy under the defunct Laval agreement of 1935.

"Italy is not the least intimidated by French augmentation of Somaliland garrisons," a spokesman said, but he added that widespread mobilization in that area "might lead to serious consequences."

Reports from Paris that Senegalese troops had occupied the strip of territory impelled authoritative quarters in Rome to reply that inasmuch as Italy never occupied the territory under the Laval pact, Rome could hardly consider her Italian interest damaged.

Rejected Suitor Fires Shots Into Home In Geauga.

PARKMAN, O. —(AP)— Evert Taylor, 54-year-old rejected suitor, fired two shots last night into the home of Mrs. Nellie Alteney, 50, and then killed himself, Robert Penton, Geauga county deputy sheriff, said today.

One bullet grazed Mrs. Alteney's chest, wounding her slightly. Penton said the two had been "keeping company" the last three years and that Mrs. Alteney recently warned Taylor, former butcher, to stay away frm her home, a half-mile from here. Both were separated from their mates, the deputy said.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The senate judiciary committee today approved nomination of Dean Herschel Arant of the Ohio university law school as a judge of the sixth circuit court of appeals. It was revealed, however, that Sen. Vic Donahey, (D-O.), will not support Arant for confirmation on the senate floor.

BERLIN — (AP) — The entire German press struck at President Roosevelt today for reports that he might shorten his cruise in the Caribbean because of word reaching him of development abroad. All America, the press said, was excited by "new baiting by peace-disturber Roosevelt" and a "theatrical coup in Washington."

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Freddie Bartholomew, English born star of American films, may soon become an American. Miss Myllicient Bartholomew, his aunt and legal guardian, today said she plans to apply at once for citizenship papers.

LONDON—(INS)—The British government has been officially advised that Italy is sending 30,000 additional troops to Libya "to provide security" for that African colony, it was announced in the house of commons today.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The house rules committee today approved the administration's $53,800,000 naval air base bill, including its provision for Guam, as the re-energized Republican minority prepared to open its first major attack on President Roosevelt's foreign policy this session.

TOLEDO — (AP) — Damage which officials of the Toledo Grain & Milling company estimated would reach $270,000 was caused by fire which swept a five-story tower at the company's plant here today. Firemen saved 100,000 bushels of grain in seven storage elevators from the flames.

HITS 65, DROPS

Sunday's Summery But Cold Won't Stay Away Long.

Record February temperatures were recorded in Ohio over the week-end, but the mercury was due to drop sharply tonight as a minor cold wave moves in from the northwest, the weatherman predicted today.

In Mansfield the mercury reached a summery 63 degrees yesterday, an all-time record for Mansfield, but it had dropped to 34 at noon today, a four-degree decline since 10 a. m.

Light snow and much colder weather was forecast for tonight and Tuesday. Heavy rainfall which measured 1.06 inches here over the week-end washed away the last of the city's three-inch covering of snow.

Temperatures rose to new February marks yesterday all over Ohio. Cincinnati reported 74 degrees, Columbus and Dayton 70, and Cleveland 68.

Ranks of 'Boys In Blue' Waver Again as T. J. Shocker, 90, Dies

Mansfield's rapidly vanishing ranks of "boys in blue" wavered again as death claimed Thomas Jefferson Shocker, 90, late Saturday night, leaving only three of his comrades to hold the line.

The G. A. R. survivors are William R. Tingley, George Fisher and W. B. Hammett, all well past the 90 mark.

Mr. Shocker, whose death occurred at his home, 10 Boughton avenue, had been ill for more than a year. His last visit to Memorial building, which had served as his club rooms for more than 16 years, and which he had visited daily, was in December of 1937.

For many years he was the youngest member of McLaughlin Post, 131, G. A. R. and was the official jokster in the years when the "rocking chair brigade" held

Gamblers Run for Cover Along 'Rip-Roaring' Front

Famous 12th Street, 'Nerve Center' of Crime Machine, Dark as Double-Barreled Quiz Starts.

By JACK VINCENT
(Central Press Correspondent)

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Kansas City today is being subjected to a double-barreled investigation as lusty, in its own way, as the city's "rip-roaring" past.

Meanwhile, notorious 12th street here, once the inspiration for the "Twelfth Street Rag," is closing down its gambling dens and vice houses, leaving its gamblers, vice-mongers, racketeers and sundry hangers-on among the unemployed.

Both state and federal grand juries are probing gambling, vice and organized crime here and 12th street is believed to be the "nerve center" of the crime machine.

Study Gamblers' Incomes.

In instructing the federal grand jury to turn its searchlight into conditions, Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves revealed crack government agents have been probing the incomes of Kansas City gamblers for two years. Thus the same net which sent Al Capone to jail—income tax violation—may send Kansas City gamblers to prison.

Federal Judge Reeves says the jury is being presented with evidence concerning operations of some 40 of the "larger gamblers" here, and, possibly, it is rumored, regarding a "king pin" gambler who controls all betting here.

The state grand jury, under direction of crusading Judge Allen Southern, is probing the charges hurled by Gov. Lloyd C. Stark,

HOLIDAY NEAR

County, City Offices, Schools to Close Wednesday.

Mansfield and Richland county will give almost complete observance Wednesday to Washington's birthday, with city, county and state offices, schools and banks to be closed throughout the day. The postoffice will be closed and there will be no deliveries.

Offices at the city building and courthouse and city schools and banks will close in their customary tribute to the nation's first president.

Closing of the county's rural schools, will be optional, although officials of the Madison township, Union rural and Springfield township schools have announced their schools will close. Most of the others in the county were expected to join in the observance.

By order of Gov. John W. Bricker, the Unemployment Compensation and aid for aged offices and state liquor stores will suspend activities for the day.

PORTSMOUTH — (INS) — Although his rowboat containing a basket of groceries was discovered near the mouth of the Scioto river, Harry Goddard, 32-year-old houseboat resident still was reported missing today.

WOMAN TRIES TO END LIFE IN CITY BUILDING

Swallows Poison as Officers Question Her About Two Forged Checks.

Gets $100 From Two Checks, Arrested After Attempting to Cash Third One.

A 27-year-old woman who attempted to take her own life while police questioned her at headquarters Saturday night in connection with the cashing of what they said was two forged checks, was to be turned over today to Cleveland authorities as a parole violator.

She is Miss Rhea Hootman, of R. D. 1, Polk, who was taken to the General hospital where an emetic was administered after she had swallowed on overdose of poison while officers questioned her concerning the cashing of two checks and an attempt to cash a third.

Call Health Officer.

Dr. Walter Merz, assistant city-county health commissioner, who was called by police said Miss Hootman had swallowed "more than enough" of the poison to kill a person.

Patrolman Frend C. Boals arrested the woman on West Third street after he had received a complaint from Harvey Dickson, manager of the U-Save Market, 26 North Walnut street, that he was suspicious of a check which she had attempted to cash, in his store.

Boals reported he brought the woman to police headquarters where he asked her about two other checks she cashed earlier in the evening, one for $46.50 at Maxwell's and another for $49.60 at the Montgomery Ward company.

Swallows Contents of Box.

The officer said that it was while she was being questioned that she tipped a small box to her lips and swallowed the contents. She was then taken to a drinking fountain in the corridor where the container which was found to have contained poison was tossed away.

Miss Hootman said she had taken a headache powder. When confronted with the container she admitted it was poison. Boals said, but told him:

"So what? It's too late to do anything about it now."

Dr. Merz was called and the woman rushed to the hospital for treatment and then returned to her jail cell.

Police, notified by Cleveland authorities that the woman was on parole in Cuyahoga county for a similar offense, said she would be turned over to them today.

The money found on her person will be returned to the firms which cashed the checks drawn on the Citizens National Bank and Trust company and made payable to Elizabeth Wooding. Boals said the signature of J. E. Seibert had been forged.

Smells Smoke, Spreads Alarm as Cleveland Home Burns.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Two children and their uncle were rescued today from a burning home in suburban Cleveland Heights.

Parker Voll, 9, awakened by smoke, found his way downstairs blocked by flames. He dropped from a porch roof and ran to a neighbor-house to spread the alarm.

A neighbor, Richard Taska, 20, climbed a ladder and rescued Jack Voll, 4. Firemen rescued his sister, Dorothy Voll, 7, who had been overcome, and an uncle of the children, Parker H. Long, 30.

Denies Swindle

Facing charges of a $34,000 land deal swindle, Representative John D. Dingell of Michigan arrived voluntarily in Detroit from Washington, declaring the transaction was a "legitimate business deal." Mrs. Cecilia Kozlowski charged Representative Dingell threatened to delay an RFC loan on a $200,000 property unless he was given a $34,000 interest in the property.

'STRIKE' ENDS, PUPILS RETURN

New Ashland Teacher Named After Woman Resigns in Row Over Punishment.

ASHLAND — Thirty-seven pupils in the Riddle school east of here returned to their classes today with a new teacher, victorious in their three-day "strike" in protest to their former teacher, Miss Gwendolyn Workman.

The pupils won their demands following a "walk-out" last Wednesday because of Miss Workman's alleged too severe punishment.

Miss Workman, who was teaching her first year in the one-room school, resigned Saturday night at the request of the board of education in Montgomery township where the school is located. Miss Frances Freer, Ashland, was employed as her successor.

C. N. McNall, president of the board, said board members were ready to present charges of misconduct and cruelty against Miss Workman had she refused to re-

O. S. U. Dean Says Groups Have But Little Influence.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Two Ohio State university organizations which had been mentioned in connection with "un-American activities" exert little influence on the campus, a committee of university trustees was told today.

Joseph A. Parks, dean of men, testified at a hearing into charges of un-Americanism that the Marxist club had less than a dozen members and the Socialist club 15 members, and that each held meetings for "for discussions."

The clubs were cited by the Franklin county council of the American Legion in a recent demand for a legislative investigation of the university. The Legion's state executive committee joined in the demands yesterday, insisting that the assembly appoint a committee to conduct an inquiry in all state-supported colleges.

Governor Postpones Death in Chair to Permit Time for U. S. Court Appeal.

NEW DEATH HOUR SET

Order Postponing Execution Issued 90 Minutes Before Electrocution Time.

(By United Press)

RAIFORD, Fla.—The execution of Franklin Pierce McCall, condemned for kidnaping James Bailey Cash who died while in the abductor's hands, was postponed today until Friday so that defense attorneys could appeal the case to the U. S. supreme court.

The act of clemency announced by L. F. Chapman, prison superintendent, came less than 90 minutes before McCall was scheduled to walk to the electric chair. McCall had given up hope and was reconciled to dying today.

Ordered by Governor.

The postponement was ordered by Gov. Fred P. Cone to permit the appeal.

The action was not a stay of execution, but merely a postponement, the governor's office explained. The death warrant ordering the abductor electrocuted during the week of Feb. 20 remains in effect.

Chapman said that the 'four days' delay is more in the nature of a postponement than a reprieve." He explained that the death warrant decreed the execution any time during the week of Feb. 20 and that it was the discretion of the prison superintendent to select the date. The hour for the execution which was to have been 10 a. m. EST today, is 11 a. m. Friday.

Chapman explained that he had granted the delay at the insistence of the McCall family who pleaded for an opportunity to place the case before the highest court.

"I am convinced, however, that McCall eventually will pay with his life for the kidnaping," Chapman said.

Parents See Youth.

Chapman said the Cashes had asked for permission to see the condemned youth and had spent about 20 minutes with him. It was the first time they had spoken to him since the night of May 28, a few minutes before McCall abducted their son.

McCall had been prepared for the execution. His head had been shaved.

Then at 8:30 a. m.—exactly 90 minutes before he was to die—came the announcement of the delay for four days in carrying out the death warrant.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cash, parents of five-year-old Jimmy Cash who was kidnaped and supposedly accidentally killed by McCall last May 28, were at the prison when the delay was announced.

2 U. S. Cardinals Join In Last Mass For Pope's Repose

VATICAN CITY — (INS) — Two American cardinals were among the robed dignitaries of the church who raised their hands in absolution today at the last of nine funeral masses for repose of the soul of Pope Pius XI.

Before a large congregation in St. Peter's church, including civil and ecclesiastical notables and members of the diplomatic corps, Denis Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia and George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago were among five cardinals who officiated.

Practically the entire English-speaking colony in Rome was present at the mass.

After the last mass the congregation of cardinals met in the sacristy of St. Peter's and continued working out arrangements for the election conclave which will open in secret March 1. The meeting of the congregation was the second attended by Cardinal Mundelein, and first for Cardinal Dougherty. Both arrived Saturday. William Cardinal O'Connell of Boston is due Feb. 28.

Forum Asks 'Dry Night Club' To Solve Leisure-Time Problem

Mansfield youth would like to have a "dry night club" where boys and girls under 22 could gather every night in the week for dancing and merrymaking, according to questainnaires compiled last night at the Community Christian Youth Forum at First Congregational church.

The forum last night was devoted to an analysis of the leisure-time problems of Mansfield youth, and the "dry night club" plan was suggested by 178 boys and girls. But the club would be a very modest affair, with mechanical music for dancing, pingpong and other games, d with proper adult supervision.

It was indicated that the average young person in Mansfield has 20 and 30 hours of leisure a week, and the questionnaires had to do with how the boys and girls would like to spend those hours.

The "night club" where nothing stronger than coca-cola and pop could be sold is desired so much by them that a committee to investigate the possibility will be appointed within a few days.

In answer to the question "what types of recreation do you prefer?" the majority specified dancing, with sports second and movies third Skating, reading music and swimming followed in the order named.

The boys and girls average 1 3 movies a week, and there were only 1.6 per cent of the group that had a "date" during the past week. Some one however, had more than their share, for one

SET ANNUAL MUSICAL OF CLUB FOR FEB. 26

Miss Charlet Cellars and Sigurd K. Jorgensen Will Appear as Guest Artists; Business Women To Sing Popular Program.

TWO Mansfield musicians will appear with the Business and Professional Women's glee club next Sunday afternoon when that organization presents its annual musicale tea in the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel at 4 p. m. Miss Charlet Cellars. flutist, and Sigurd K. Jorgensen, violinist, are the guests. Accompaniments will be played by Mrs. R. V. Myers and Mrs. Minnie Marks Cahall.

Members of the glee club will open the program with an arrangement of the "Londonderry Air" by Ira B. Wilson. For the first group they will sing "I Passed By Your Window" by Brahe-Lucas; "Sylvia" by Speaks-Deis, and "A Song of Gladness" by the same composers.

Miss Cellars will play four movements—the "Adagio," the "Allegro," the "Siciliano" and "Bourree" of the Sonata in Alten Stil by Zanke. The other selections of her first group are "Lotus" from "Impressions Exotique" by Karg-Elert, and "Bolero" by Pessard.

A group of folk melodies will follow with the glee club singing "Mah Lindy Lou" by Lily Strickland, "Ma Curly Headed Baby" by G. H. Clutsam, and "The Star" by Rogers-Baldwin.

Mr. Jorgensen will offer a traditional Danish air coupled with "Gypsy Airs" by Sarasate, and the glee club will conclude with three old favorites. They are "In the Still of the Night" by Cole Porter, "By the Waters of Minnetonka" by Thurlow Lieurance and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" by Victor Herbert.

Tea will be served at the conclusion of the musical program which is being directed by Miss Myrtle Booth. Miss Cellars. who played several times at the Country Club last summer, appeared with her trio at West Palm Beach. Fla., for a number of weeks last winter. Mr. Jorgensen, a newcomer to Mansfield, is supervisor of orchestras in the Mansfield city schools.

Final Function Of Season Held By Social Group

Mansfielders' interest centered about the ballroom floor at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Saturday evening when the final social function of the season was conducted by the Our club. There were 140 guests present for the dinner-dance which was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Lusignan, chairman, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. John F. Bissman, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Stoodt and Mr. and Mrs. Estes C. Thompson.

Spring flowers and brightly colored combs, which were presented as favors, decorated the long tables at which dinner was served. Later a floor show was presented by a Cleveland unit which included a jug band, a dancing chorus, an acrobatic and novelty dancer, a vocalist and a master of ceremonies. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing to the rhythms of the Shively-Yates orchestra.

Saturday night's function was the final affair of the 58th season of the social club. Dances have been given this year at Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year.

P. T. A. Congress To Be Held In Ashland All Day Thursday

IN addition to the North Central District conference of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers which will be held at Ashland Thursday several Mansfield groups will have meeting the forepart of this week. Tuesday the Brinkerhoff P. T. A. will entertain at a benefit bridge party at 8 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Black are in charge of arrangements for the affair.

They are being assisted by Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Young, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Banks, and Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Young. In addition to bridge any other games, including Chinese checkers will be played, and table prizes will be awarded prior to the serving of refreshments.

John Simpson Junior high P. T. A will have a meeting in the annex gymnasium when Rev. Grover Swoyer speaks on "The Home, School and Church" tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. Harold Arlin is chairman of the meeting.

Mrs. Tracy LaCost, Toledo, state president will be the guest of honor Wednesday night when the Mansfield P. T. A. council has a Founders' Day party at Bushnell school. Bushnell P. T. A. members are in charge, and Dr. D. A. Weir will give a talk on immunization following Mrs. LaCost.

Informally Speaking...

Monday, February 20.

Lucy, dear:

In spite of the fact that the calendar only registers February, the weather recently has been most indicative of April—or at least the last of March—with showers and sun and strong warm winds. . . . It really makes one all the more anxious for the actual arrival of spring, doesn't it?

I'M SURE you remember Mrs. O. J. Wilson, who was formerly Betty Peppard. . . . She lives down in Columbus and has been alumni recorder at Ohio State university for the past eight years. Betty is retiring now, however, and she and her husband are planning to go to housekeeping. . . . Bill, another member of the Peppard family, is attending Stanford university in Palo Alto. Cal., and was recently appointed to the staff of the campus daily paper.

Several vacationing Mansfielders seem to be getting together down in Florida these days. Mrs. J. D. McLeod with her young sons, John and Neil, Mrs. Paul Wilmore (Gretchen Peppard) with her children, Shirley and Paul Woodley, Mrs. Joy Herbert with her two small children, Jay and Joyanne, and Jean Bushnell have taken a house together down in Ft. Lauderdale. They're having a fine time now, and occasionally the Emerson Wellers and the Henry Talmadges (whose home is in Mt. Gilead) drive over from Hollywood, Fla.—where they're spending the winter months.

CLARENCE J. HOOVER is having quite an interesting winter vacation too . . . he's down in Galveston, Tex., now—where he'll have an opportunity to attend the oldest Mardi Gras in Texas. The Mardi Gras (which opened last Friday and extends through tomorrow) dates back to 1867—but this year's edition is streamlined! This afternoon there was a parade (known as "Galveston on the March") featuring a series of floats representing Galveston's personality—and tonight there will be a jitterbug contest—when Miss Jitterbug No. 1 will be chosen.

Although they've been having lunch together every day for these many months, it wasn't until last Friday that a number of girls who work in the office at the Westinghouse discovered the strange similarity of their names. The group is made up of Jane Sowash and Jane Cunningham, Eleanor Clingan and Eleanor Wareham, Phyllis Brown and Phyllis VanDerau, Betty Green and Betty Hammel . . . so now Beverly Schwein is looking for someone with the same first name as her's—so she won't feel left out when lunching with the other girls.

THE very next time you come over to Mansfield, Lucy, I hope you'll call on Mrs. William Enlow (she was Bernice Heuss before her marriage last fall). Her home is lovely—and the nice part of it is that she planned and designed the interior herself. Except for the bedroom—which has a beautiful antique bed 150 years old and an antique bed stand 100 years old—the house is done in modern furniture . . . and the contrast makes it all the more interesting. Bernice has used a lot of colors in her home to make it bright and cheerful . . . the living room color scheme is brown, turquoise and yellow, while the bedroom is peach and blue . . . and the kitchen and dining room are decorated in blue and yellow.

* * * * *

PAT KRAMER, Emily Burns and Pat's mother (Mrs. Dora E. Kramer) drove down to Columbus for the week-end. Pat and Emily visited at Ohio State university while Mrs. Kramer stayed with her son and his wife—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kramer. Then on Sunday, they had a family dinner in celebration of Mrs. Kramer's birthday anniversary—which occurred one day last week.

Speaking of week-end vacationers, I must remember to tell you about Mrs. Harry German's trip to Chicago—she went up on Friday and visited with several of her friends.

Before closing, I want to tell you of the smart knit suit that "Tookie" Nail is sporting these days. It is a two-piece outfit of royal blue wool, and the blouse has long sleeves with deep wristbands of chartreuse angora . . . and there are fluffy inserts of the same shade of angora in the upper part of the sleeves and across the shoulders.

That just about exhausts the news for today, Lucy, so I'll close now and proceed to watch the mails for a letter from you.

Lovingly,

Marianne

A-P Sports Writer Hoodwinks Old Swami River Into Conjuring Forecasts Out of Crystal Ball for Coming Baseball Season.

Dizzy Dean

JUST to save you the trouble of keeping step with developments during the next two months, Drew Middleton, one of the writing stars of the Associated Press, has hoodwinked old Swami River into conjuring a few forecasts out of the crystal ball. And, as Middleton says, from a usually unreliable source, here they are:

NEW BRAUNFELS, TEX., MARCH 7—Jimmy Wilson (Oops! The Swami missed one here. Doc Prothro is the new Philly manager but they all look the same, at that). Anyhow Doc Prothro announces "Wild" Joe Smith, rookie southpaw, will pitch the opening game. "He is faster than Johnson and has more control than Alexander," says Prothro. "That 'Wild' is a nickname from childhood when he used to bite his brothers."

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA., MARCH 8—Buddy Rosar, who led International league in hitting, watches Bill Dickey pull a couple into right and picks out shady seat in Yankee dugout.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., MARCH 20—Dizzy Dean fans 11 in exhibition game and winds self up for opening day. "I will win 30 or 40 for the Cubs," says Diz as odds rise on Cardinals to win National league pennant.

CLEARWATER, FLA., MARCH 20—Larry MacPhail signs Napoleon Lajoie as Brooklyn second baseman and predicts, "We will be up in the fight, the club that beats us will win the pennant."

ORLANDO, FLA., MARCH 21—Clark Griffiths announces Yankees are weak and that Joe Wahoo, new Senator outfielder, reminds him of Ruth—Etting, not Babe.

McALLON, TEX., MARCH 22—"Wild" Joe Smith of Phillies walks seven, hits two and is touched for two triples in first exhibition start. Prothro grows new crop of white hair but observes, "The boy's a little nervous but don't worry, he can't miss." Hit batsmen chorus, "I'll say he can't."

NEW ORLEANS, MARCH 25—Rollie Hemsley announces he has turned over a new leaf. Says he will give Manager Oscar Vitt and Indians all he has. Vitt and Indians turn down offer.

CLEARWATER, FLA., MARCH 28—Dodgers massacre Yankees, 15-2 as scribes whisper champions are cracking. Gomez fails to last inning as DiMaggio fans four times and Gehrig three. Joe McCarthy issues edict against tatting and croquet playing on club.

NEW YORK, MARCH 29—Ford Frick and Will Harridge, league presidents, issue joint statement saving nearly 30 reams of copy paper: "It will be a great race in the (insert "American" or "National" league). All our first division clubs are strengthened and I am inclined to think the second division clubs will provide some surprises."

DURHAM, N. C., APRIL 10—Philadelphia Athletics beat Duke university. Jack Coombs, Duke coach, attributes victory to fact he hid first team before A's got to town. "That feller Mack isn't going to take any more of my boys," says Coombs. "Soon as he heard we had players under 30 his eyes lit up."

* * * * *

Dodgers Rout Yanks, McCarthy Bans Flagpole Sitting.

GREENVILLE, S. C., APRIL 12—Dodgers rout Yankees, 11-1. Gehrig, Dickey, DiMaggio, Gordon go hitless. McCarthy bans flagpole sitting and Graeco-Roman wrestling on club. Indians installed as American league favorites despite fact Hemsley hasn't turned new leaf in 36 hours.

BROOKLYN, APRIL 16—Dodgers crown Yankees, 14-3. Riotous celebration in streets.

PHILADELPHIA, APRIL 16—Athletics get rid of "Wild" Joe Smith in one-third of an inning. Phillies get rid of him five minutes later.

OPENING DAY—Yanks win 9-3. Indians report Hemsley still missing. Charlie Root relieves Dean in fourth. Dodgers make 11 errors and lose, 7-0. Brooklyn rooter goes home and shoots wife and two children. Jury brings in verdict of justifiable homicide.

Spare Robs Sunny Meder of 300 Game at Fostoria

Clarence "Sonny" Meder had the misfortune Sunday of collecting a spare in the opening frame of his final game and it cost him an opportunity of entering bowling's hall of fame at Fostoria.

Meder, performing with the Mansfield Moose, started the game with his spare and then added 11 consecutive strikes for a brilliant 290 total, to enable his team to cop second place in the N. C. O league sweepstakes. "Sonny" collected a pair of 194's in the other games for a 678 total.

Art Hilborn contributed a 659 and F. Hipp came through with a 612 to follow Meder in the scoring column as the team dropped a 3144 to 3128 affair to Heidelberg. Heidelberg's total gave them first in the sweepstakes.

Reformatory Bows To Dayton Club

The Ohio State Reformatory quintet suffered another setback Saturday night when it bowed to the Delco Brakes of Dayton, 42 to 33, on the reformatory court.

Although holding a 28 to 27 advantage going into the final period, the Inmates were unable to throttle the invaders' thrilling rally that enabled the visitors to score their victory. Dayton out scored the Inmates, 15-5 in that deciding quarter.

The Reformatory led, 10 to 2, in the opening chapter and, 18 to 12, at halftime. Rotter was high-point man with 15 points, with Taylor topping the Inmates with 10

Tygers Close Regular Season This Week Finish With Canton

Men of Murphy Travel to Massillon Tuesday Night; Turn Back Shelby, 43-32.

BY CHARLES MARTIN

ASSURED of finishing the regular season over the .500 per cent mark, the Mansfield high Tygers prepared today to invade Massillon Tuesday night in search of their sixth consecutive court victory.

Coach Russ Murphy's athletes, who make their initial appearance on the Massillon hardwood Tuesday, made sure of going over the halfway mark Saturday night by dusting off an inspired Shelby high quintet, 43 to 32, in the Tygers' lair before a near-capacity gathering. The tussle was the semi-final home game on the Mansfield schedule. It was the ninth triumph in 14 games for Mansfield.

Final Road Contest.

Mansfield's trek to Massillon to engage the Tigers, is the final out-of-town contest of the season which will be concluded when the Canton McKinley Bulldogs strut their wares on the Senior high gymnasium Friday night.

The Tygers failed to exhibit their usual fine defensive play Saturday night, and as a result, Shelby, playing its third affair of the week, pushed them all the way.

Coach Murphy's men, intent on piling up a comfortable lead, allowed their opponents a number of "set" shots which the Whippets dropped in with ease.

Mansfield encountered trouble in the second and third periods with spotty passing that broke up its fast-breaking attack. Numerous times the Tygers had a man free beneath the basket, but sloppy ball-handling cost them a chance of adding to their margin.

With Dave Shelley and Tommy Scott supplying the spark, Mansfield opened up with a whirlwind basket bombardment in the early minutes to hop into a lead that was never relinquished.

Although Shelby never crawled within three points of the Tygers advantage after the rest period, it gave them several uneasy minutes with some accurate mid-court shooting. And not until midway in the final frame did Mansfield get its attack clicking to tally enough points to put the game on ice.

The Whippets let loose an attack in the second chapter that enabled them to climb within a point of the Mansfielders' lead, but they didn't have the scoring punch to overtake the winners.

Shelby lost the services of Harold Bliss and Stenson Oster, on fouls early in the fourth quarter, and when those defensive men left the game Mansfield began running up its score.

Mansfield gained a 12 to 5 lead in the initial stanza, was ahead, 22 to 16, at the intermission, and went into the last period leading by a 31 to 24 count.

Shelley, who tied Scott for individual honors with 13 points, proved particularly effective under the basket and fighting for the important rebounds.

Only one of the eight men Murphy employed failed to score at least one point. He was Rich Nagle, who entered the affray in the fading minutes. Bob Lehman set the tempo for the Whippets with 12 points, while Frank Benham added 11 to the losers' cause.

Scott proved a menace to the Whippets' passing attack throughout. Several times he intercepted Shelby passes when it looked as though the neighboring city five would work the ball in for easy shots.

Reserves Win, 30 to 6.

The Mansfield No. 1 Reserves turned in one of their finest defensive games of the season by walloping the Shelby seconds, 30 to 6, in one of the preliminary games Mansfield held the visitors scoreless from the field, and in only one period, the first, was Shelby able to score more than one point. The No 1 quint whitewashed Shelby in the final period. Aiten hit the basket for 14 points to pace the winners.

The No 2 Reserves dropped a thrilling 21 to 19, overtime affair to Perrysville, in the other prelim. Christopher shipped in the winning basket in the final minute of the "suicide" period.

Basketeers of the undefeated South Main Evangelical combine registered one of their most impressive triumphs of the season in the Class C Church league at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday.

South Main, which annexed the opening round championship with seven straight victories, whitewashed the Park Avenue Baptist outfit, 35 to 0, for its second consecutive win in the second round title chase.

The victory enabled South Main to remain in a tie for first place along with St. Paul Lutherans, and First Episcopal clubs which also scored their No. 2 triumphs.

Led by Earhart, who tallied 12 points, South Main went ahead, 10-0, in the initial frame, 16-0, at the half, and 27-0 at the end of the third chapter.

St. Paul handed the Boy Rangers the first defeat by a 25 to 20 count, First Episcopal edged St. Johns Evangelical, 15 to 13, and the First M. E. team walloped the First Presbyterians, 20 to 8, in the other contests.

Ohio State Faces Northwestern Club

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Encouraged by reports that its star player and captain, Jimmy Hull, would probably be back in the lineup, Ohio State today was optimistic over its chances to overcome Northwestern in a Big Ten basketball encounter in the fairgrounds Coliseum tonight.

With Indiana displaying no inclination toward relinquishing the lead, Ohio must win its remaining four games in order to retain its second place spot and have sufficient victories to move into first place in the event the Hoosiers do topple. One loss would impair championship aspirations.

HENRY PICARD WINS CRESCENT CITY TITLE

NEW ORLEANS—(INS)—Henry Picard's winter golf winnings today bulged with an additional $2,000, his reward for victory in the 72-hole Crescent City open.

The dapper Hershey, Pa., pro topped a star studded field with a total of 284 strokes for the route, four under par. Although three over par on his final round with a 75, Picard stretched his 54-hole lead to five full strokes over Dick Metz, Chicago, as the rest of the field found rough going. Metz with 289 won $1,400 out of the $10,000 purse.

BRIDGEPORT WINS 25TH

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Bridgeport's pro basketball team held its 25th consecutive victory today after upsetting the Columbus Athletic Supply company, five, 55 to 44. Led by Stan Goletz who scored 17 points, the southeastern Ohio quint had little difficulty in taking an early lead and retaining the margain throughout the game.

Sport Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

HONOLULU —(UP)— I came, I saw, and I was completely conquered—by an Hawaiian surfboard.

Friendly enough while my beach boy, Panama Dave, and I paddled it out through the gentle rollers, the surfboard became a Benedict Arnold when we reached the big swells, and turned traitor.

I could fairly see its varnish bristling when Panama, by an engineering feat equal to the raising of the Pyramids, lifted me upright on it and took me for a tandem ride. With Panama, its master, guiding and handling it, the board behaved itself. After two or three more rides with Panama instructing me, I decided I was ready to go it alone. This was the biggest mistake I ever made.

I followed his instructions to the letter and before I knew it I was standing up on the surfboard atop one of the most gigantic waves in the history of the Pacific ocean. Our trio—the wave, the board and me—swept shoreward at a conservative 200 miles per hour.

Completely terrified, I wanted to get off that board but I was frozen to it in the same manner that an airplane pilot gets frozen to the controls.

I had no control whatsoever over the surfboard and our mad course, as we rushed toward Waikiki beach, was the same in outline as those jagged, zig-zaggy drawings of lightning.

We zigged by an outrigger canoe, missing it by inches. We zagged by a sailboat. Then we headed for a group of people, lazily sunning themselves in surfboards. In a fraction of a second they were off and under their boards to escape.

That fiend in wooden form, my surfboard, seemed intent upon jeopardizing everybody in sight. Like a mad house-to-house canvasser, we rushed from group to group, spreading terror in our wake.

Why I didn't fall off no one will ever know. I couldn't stay on a board that long again if my life depended on it. Not until we were nearly to the beach, and it looked as if my board planned to get all the people under the umbrellas, too, was I able to fall off.

As a final gesture the board whacked me on the ear and drifted on in. I gave it a kick and looked around for the wave. Panama had arrived and there was the same sort of look on his face that I have seen on bloodhounds in Georgia when they were hot on the trail of a dangerous jailbreaker.

"Why didn't you guide it the way I showed you, Malihini (newcomer)?" Panama asked. "It's easy just like jumping out of an airplane without a parachute. The start's nothing, a child can do it. But brother, the finish is terrific."

CLEVELAND BARONS DROP ANOTHER ONE

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The Cleveland barons, because of their early season hockey, seem pretty sure to get into the international-American league playoffs, and the fans were thankful for those early performances.

For the barons looked as bad as they ever have last night, losing 6 to 1 to the Pittsburgh Hornets in a game at the arena. Particular annoyance to the Barons was Sid Abel, fresh from the amateur ranks. The rookie Hornet turned to the hat trick, making one goal in the second period and two on the third.

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— Defending his title for the first time, Robert Grant, 3rd, defeated Dr. Louis F. Bishop, jr., in straight games, 15-9, 15-2, 15-12, in the national amateur racquets championship.

Wooster Club Faces Test This Week

Meets Three Ohio Conference Foes.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The last big splurge in Ohio's 1939 collegiate basketball campaign is on the books this week, 45 contests being up for decision.

Featuring this week's card are Ohio State's two western conference games, the second-place Bucks matching shots with Northwestern tonight at the state fairgrounds coliseum, and Wisconsin at Madison Saturday.

Wooster, pace-setter in the state-wide and Ohio conference races, has Ashland, Heidelberg and Mt. Union as this week's foes, while Toledo De Sales, in second place in the all-games section, has five tilts carded.

Two of the games are in the western conference, 13 in the Ohio, three in the Buckeye, and 18 with out-of-state foes, a dozen of them on foreign courts.

Wooster, out front in the Ohio loop with 12 straight wins, can lose one of its remaining five league games and still grab the championship by a "country mile." Wittenberg, defending champion, is in second place with 10 wins and a loss, and winds up its loop chores against the tough John Carroll club Friday night.

Blue Goose Team Bows to Clothiers

The Blue Goose Sohioans suffered their second straight defeat on the Marion armory court Sunday when they bowed to the Bradley Clothiers, 38 to 36. They lost the other game to Ralph's Snappy Service five recently.

The Mansfielders went into the final period leading, 32 to 25, but the Clothiers, suddenly found the range to out point the Sohioans, 13-4, and take the decision.

Blue Goose was behind, 11-8, in the first period, but rallied to take a 22 to 19 advantage at the rest period. Kenny Lockhart was the individual star of the Sohioans' attack with 16 points. Furniss was high-point man with 17 points.

BIBLE TEACHING UP TO SCHOOLS IN THIRD REICH

Education Ministry Declares Instructors Have Free Hand in Education.

(By United Press)

BERLIN—It is un-German to pray to the Deity and ask Him for help, at least according to the bi-weekly "At the Holy Spring of German Strength," organ of the late Gen. Eric von Ludendorff.

In a recent issue of this paper a principal of a German school wrote:

"Even as a soldier I was disturbed by the fact that the enemy on the other side of the trenches prayed to the same God. I also learned that praying does not help. Fear turns prayer into begging, and whining. But that is not heroism, and it is not fitting for the German soldier."

His attitude toward prayer is shared by many German officials. The chairman of the National Socialist Teachers League, Fritz Waechtler, asked the members of the league to abandon religious instruction in schools because of the assassination of von Rath in Paris.

Religious Pictures Removed.

Although the league did not adopt Waechtler's proposition officially, many teachers agreed with him and abandoned religious instructions and removed all pictures of Christ from their classrooms. They disavow the Resurrection.

The German minister of education declared that it must be left to the teachers themselves whether or not they want to give religious instructions but that they will be forced neither to give it nor to abandon it.

The constant attacks of Nazi papers such as the "Schwarze Korps," organ of the Black Guards, and "Der S-A Mann," organ of the Storm Troops, upon the church and religion have led many Germans to turn away from the church and become "deutschglaeubig" or believers in German Faith which means that they believe only in German strength.

Until 1920 religious instruction was given in every grammar school. The schools were either named Catholic school or Evangelical school depending on the kind of religious instruction offered.

Under the Weimar constitution another type of school was added. It was called "Secular school" and differed from the hitherto existing types in that no religious instruction was given.

Secular Schools Banned.

Adolf Hitler, when he came to power, abolished the "Secular schools." One of his reasons might have been that he considered them to be breeding places for Communism and Socialism. Children in Germany took a keen interest in politics in those days.

During the recess they discussed the latest political developments and argued the relative merits of Communism and Democracy. But in the "Secular school" they all agreed that Fascism would be the worst of all.

It can be assumed that Hitler's aim was to bring these children into touch with those of other political faiths. So he divided them among the various other schools, permitting them to abstain from religious instruction.

Hitler succeeded faster than he himself could have imagined in changing the political views of the children. Perhaps because they were attracted by the uniform of the Hitler Youth and because their parents—if they were Communists or Social-democrats—did not dare to speak in their presence about politics, children soon changed their minds and they became the Fuehrer's pride.

Instead of religion children now are being taught more about the National Socialist political philosophy.

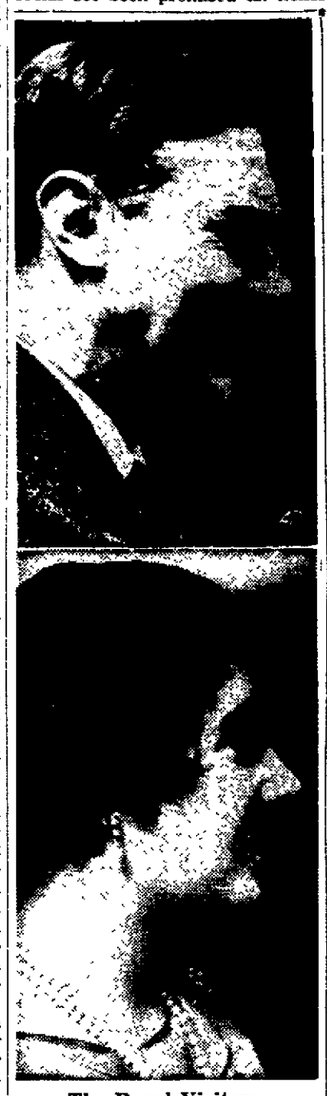
Getting Ready for Royalty

Capital Society Already Angling to Get In on the Show When King and Queen Take Pot Luck at White House

By SIGRID ARNE
(Associated Press Feature Writer)

WASHINGTON—The expected visit here this spring of the king and queen of England looks like the biggest social event Washington has ever seen.

In years past presidents have entertained kings of small powers and princes of the larger ones. But never before has the Washington social set been promised an honest to goodness king and queen of a major power. And never before have reigning monarchs slept in the White House. The Britishers are taking pot luck with the Roosevelts.



The Royal Visitors.

Pot luck is what it likely will seem to the royal guests. They could stroll all over the White House in 15 minutes. (In all probability they will never see the whole of that mausoleum they call home, Buckingham palace.)

You can't wait till the last minute to prepare for such visitors as the king and queen of England. So, although Their Majesties aren't expected till June, Washington already is planning how to entertain them. This is the first of three stories telling what's up.

They will occupy two suites on the second floor of the White House, neither of which could compete with suites in New York's better hotels. The king and queen each will have a bedroom and bath and will share the Monroe room as a lounge. It was in the Monroe room the treaty with Spain was signed, and it was that room the cabinet used for meetings. Its long windows look down on the White House lawns. And certainly the upholstered chairs, heavy velvet drapes and gilt-framed mirrors should remind the visitors of their dear old great-grandmother, Victoria.

No. 1 Social Hour.

They will breakfast in bed, if they wish. For the rest of their visit here they will be at the mercy of the state department and the British embassy. One event is certain: a state dinner at the White House to which some 90 of the luckier and more illustrious social lights will be invited. And already deep schemes are afoot among the dowagers to wrangle invitations to the event. Certainly such an invitation would be a gold seal on any social career.

This royal couple has been preceded here by their more spectacular brother, the present Duke of Windsor, and by their grandfather, Edward the Seventh. Both came here before they ascended the British throne.

Buchanan was president when Edward visited in 1860. The entertainment must have been pretty stiff for the gay prince because Buchanan thought dancing much below the dignity of the visit. However, his hostess was Harriet Lane, his young niece. She headed a party which took Edward by boat to Mt. Vernon, and the boat had no sooner shoved off than the young people had a minuet in full swing.

Years later when Wilson was president, and when he was confined to his bed, Edward's grandson, the present Duke of Windsor, visited. That was 1919. He went upstairs to Wilson's bedroom to chat, and leaning over Wilson's bed chuckled at the stories the president had collected about his grandfather's visit 59 years before.

That same year, 1919, the king and queen of Belgium were here to pay respects for the part this country played in the World war. The king had been here as a prince in 1898 when he traveled informally as the Count de Rethy. His son, who also traveled as Count de Rethy, came in the 20's.

Hoovers Stiffly Formal.

In 1931 the king and queen of Siam visited. They stayed in the Larz Anderson home: Anderson had ambassador-ed in the Far East and his Washington home was on the royal scale, complete with art gallery and conservatory. The stiffest formality was observed by the Herbert Hoovers. On the first morning the Siamese pair paid a call at the White House and then rushed home to receive a call from guess whom? Why, from the Hoovers: a return visit which was all very royally proper.

But royal visits have not always been so stiff. Around 1790 Edward, the Duke of Kent, was here. That was shortly after the British had wrapped up their guns and gone home, so Edward was nervous enough to bring along food-tasters. He learned that Americans didn't feel bitterly enough to harm him, so he turned on democracy-plus.

Trying to be democratic he stopped to ask a Yankee cobbler's wife for a glass of milk. The story is told in Daniel Thompson's history of Montpelier, Vt. The duke thanked the lady with a kiss, saying, "Now you can say you have been kissed by British royalty." Whereupon her husband rose from his bench, swung his foot and said. "And now you can say you have been booted by a Yankee cobbler."

ITALY EXPANDS CIVIL AVIATION

Official Statistics Show Plane Travel Heavy; New Airline Seen.

(By United Press)

ROME — Fifty civil airplanes take off every day from various Italian air fields sprinkled over the peninsula, averaging daily distances which if totalled would be sufficient to reach around the world at the equator.

Official statistics issued by the air ministry add that Italian civil airplanes flew a total of 7,000,000 miles during 1938.

During the past year aviation lines transported from the Alps to Sicily 989,179 pounds of mail, 5,730,247 pounds of cargo, with a total of 119,280 passengers.

Although no official figures are available as to the number of civil machines today operating in the country, it is estimated that they total at least 150.

These statistics were revealed by Deputy Umberto Klinger in an audience he had with Premier Benito Mussolini. Klinger is president of the Ala Littoria Air company, the only civil airline in Italy, and which is controlled by the government.

Klinger also told the Duce that a new airline soon will be inaugurated between Italy and South America. At first, only mail will be flown to Latin America, but it is expected that regular passenger service will be started before the close of 1939.

Klinger added that the name of Mussolini is linked to this new line because his son, Bruno Mussolini, blazed the route for the new line in spring of 1938, when he led a squadron of three bombing planes on a non-stop flight to South America.

PAM—A Bad Situation. By A. W. Brewerton

LIFE IS LIKE THAT! NEVER A ROSE BUT A THORN—NEVER THE SUNSHINE BUT THE SHADOW!
OH! WHAT A BRUTE THAT MAN MUST BE!
2-20
—HARVEY GALTMAN, IS MAKING LIFE MISERABLE FOR HIS PRETTY SECRETARY BY TRYING TO FORCE HIS ATTENTIONS UPON HER!—GALTMAN IS VICE-PRESIDENT AND DISTRICT MANAGER OF THE PLANET ADVERTISING COMPANY, AND CLARE, ONLY RECENTLY, WAS THRILLED BY HER PROMOTION FROM THE GENERAL OFFICES INTO HIS PRIVATE SUITE, KNOWING NOTHING THEN OF THE MAN'S CHARACTER!
CLARE, ATTRACTIVE BLONDE, SISTER OF DAVID AND PAL OF PAM, IS A SWEET AND LOVABLE GIRL!—SHE HAS BEEN WITH THE SAME FIRM A LONG TIME—IS NOW EARNING A SPLENDID SALARY, AND SHE HESITATES TO LEAVE HER POSITION, FOR, WITH GALTMAN'S INFLUENCE, IF SHE QUITS HIS OFFICE, SHE IS OUT OF THE FIRM FOR GOOD!—
DAVID, JUST RETURNED FROM A TRYING ASSIGNMENT OF THE F.B.I., IS BADLY WORN AND TIRED FROM HIS ARDUOUS, NERVE-RACKING LABORS. HE IS ABOUT TO LEAVE THE CITY FOR A SHORT REST AND BADLY NEEDED RELAXATION! HE KNOWS NOTHING OF CLARE'S TROUBLES!—
SUCH IS THE SITUATION THIS FAIR FEBRUARY DAY—AND THINGS ARE ABOUT TO HAPPEN!
Copyright, 1939, by A. W. Brewerton (Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Office)

NOTICE!

Because, through no fault of its own, The News-Journal has been printing the comic strip "Tailspin Tommy" ahead of the regular release dates, appearance of the feature has been temporarily suspended.

However, the comic strip has not been discontinued.

It will reappear with no interruption in the continuity of the story on Saturday, Feb. 25, in the week-end green tabloid, in which it will appear thereafter.

The new and popular strip, "Blondie," now appears on this page daily.

PAM—A Bad Situation. By A. W. Brewerton

LIFE IS LIKE THAT! NEVER A ROSE BUT A THORN—NEVER THE SUNSHINE BUT THE SHADOW!
OH! WHAT A BRUTE THAT MAN MUST BE!
2-20
CLARE, ATTRACTIVE BLONDE, SISTER OF DAVID AND PAL OF PAM, IS A SWEET AND LOVABLE GIRL!—SHE HAS BEEN WITH THE SAME FIRM A LONG TIME—IS NOW EARNING A SPLENDID SALARY, AND SHE HESITATES TO LEAVE HER POSITION, FOR, WITH GALTMAN'S INFLUENCE, IF SHE QUITS HIS OFFICE, SHE IS OUT OF THE FIRM FOR GOOD!—
DAVID, JUST RETURNED FROM A TRYING ASSIGNMENT OF THE F.B.I., IS BADLY WORN AND TIRED FROM HIS ARDUOUS, NERVE-RACKING LABORS. HE IS ABOUT TO LEAVE THE CITY FOR A SHORT REST AND BADLY NEEDED RELAXATION! HE KNOWS NOTHING OF CLARE'S TROUBLES!—

NOTICE!

Because, through no fault of its own, The News-Journal has been printing the comic strip "Tailspin Tommy" ahead of the regular release dates, appearance of the feature has been temporarily suspended.

However, the comic strip has not been discontinued.

It will reappear with no interruption in the continuity of the story on Saturday, Feb. 25, in the week-end green tabloid, in which it will appear thereafter.

The new and popular strip, "Blondie," now appears on this page daily.

LIGHT SELLING WILTS MARKET, LEADERS DOWN

Renewed Uneasiness in Europe Causes Setback; Reports on Steel Encourage.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market wilted today under light selling, leaders losing fractions to more than two points.

The pace was comparatively slow throughout and there were a few signs of recovery evidence.

Brokers attributed the set-back partly to advices of renewed uneasiness in Great Britain over the European picture and presidential hints of threatening developments abroad.

Steels, motors, aircrafts, rubbers and mail orders were among the principal victims. Rails and utilities, on the whole, confined recessions to minor amounts.

Prominent on the decline were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, United Aircraft, Sperry, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, General Electric and Anaconda.

Bonds trailed stocks on the reversal. Commodities were mixed.

Followers of the steels found comfort in the survey of the magazine "Steel" which noted an "improved situation" in this industry.

While steel users seem reluctant to order far ahead, the review said, a steady flow of small orders was believed indicative of sustained consumption.

"Automobile companies," it was added, "are following a similar buying policy, ordering in relatively small lots but more frequently than was the general practice in past years."

sign. She had declined to quit three weeks ago when the board decided to give her another chance.

She appeared before the board at a hearing Saturday night in Ashland when the parents of pupils in the rural school charged she had switched their children so hard their skin was broken and struck others on the head with books and a ruler.

Miss Freer, the new teacher, is a graduate of Ashland college and previously taught in the Port Clinton schools. She will finish the term at the Riddle school which will be closed permanently this year. Pupils will be transported to a new consolidated school two miles east of Ashland on route 250.

The board announced that Miss Workman had been paid only to date, after rejecting her demand for a $200 settlement on her year's contract. Without comment, she returned to her home at Fredericktown.

FATHER OF NINE

Bucyrus Man Was Also One of Family of Nine.

BUCYRUS—Charles H. Bowser, 58, the father of nine children and himself one of a family of nine, died at his home, 808 Woodlawn avenue, early Saturday evening, leaving 18 immediate survivors, including his wife.

Mr. Bowser, who had been ill for three weeks, was born May 30, 1880, at New Bethlehem, Pa., and was married July 14, 1914 to Elizabeth Nixon of Bucyrus.

Besides his wife, he is survived by the following children: Adam, Jonathan, Therma, Rosetta, Hazel, Stella, Ethel, all at home, and Byron of Utah, and Mrs. Edward Stuckman of Bloomville, O.

One sister, Mrs. Blanche Neely, New Wellington, Pa., and seven brothers also survive. They are Wick, Clyde and Arch Bowser, all of Mansfield; I. E. and D. B. Bowser, of Grove City, Pa; W. B., of Fars, Pa., and E. E., of Long Island, N. Y.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Henderson and Lutz funeral home, with Rev. J. A. Patterson officiating. Burial will be made in Broken Sword cemetery, near here.

who has ordered crime cleanups in St. Louis and Kansas City.

Governor Stark, however, is centering his fire on Kansas City, the home of his former friend and now political foe, Tom Pendergast, Missouri Democratic leader and one of the last of the old-time political bosses of the nation.

Governor Stark, charging there has been a breakdown of law and order here, asserts "the blight of crime and corruption" in Kansas City is a "stench in the nostrils of decent citizens of the United states." He adds:

Governor's Charges.

"Perpetrators of homicides go unpunished . . . rackets flourish openly . . . open and notorious gambling dens and vice brothels exist . . . state liquor laws are violated with impunity."

Judge Southern, in instructing his grand jury, remarked gambling was "conducted on a tremendous scale" and that "it is commonly reported that tribute is levied upon every gambling game by powerful racketeers." Declaring the jury "may inquire into the conduct of public officials of the county and city and indict if necessary," he points out the jury has only three weeks before the present term of court expires, so Kansas City should see some action soon.

Kansas City, with a population of 400,000 and ruled by City Manager Henry F. McElroy who scoffs at the governor's charges, has seen investigations before. In 1937, more than 200 persons were indicted, and most of them convicted, for election frauds in 1936. In 1938, 50 were indicted for window smashings and bombings in connection with rackets preying on business.

While the probes are under way, gamblers and their ilk along Kansas City's 12th street are running for cover. Night club dice tables are dark, roulette wheels stand idle, poolroom blackjack and poker tables are growing dusty, race track betting rooms are boarded up, and bright lights in vice houses are out.

SEE how many public benefits brewing has helped create in only five years! How can the brewing industry preserve these benefits for the people and itself?

The answer, brewers realize, ties in with the distribution of their mild, wholesome beverage through responsible retail outlets. Obviously, the brewers can enforce no laws. But they can—and will—cooperate with all law enforcement authorities to the end that retail beer outlets give no offense to anyone.

May we send you a booklet giving interesting facts about beer, and discussing the brewers' self-regulatory program? Address: United Brewers Industrial Foundation, 19 East 40th Street, New York, N. Y.

PENNSY PROFIT HITS $3,000,000

Railroad Pays Dividend for 91st Year Despite Sharp Drop in Revenue.

Despite a sharp drop in revenue, the Pennsylvania railroad closed 1938 with a profit of more than $3,000,000 after meeting all obligations, the company's annual statement, released today, showed.

Operating revenues for the year were $360, 384, 241, a drop of 21 per cent from the revenues for the preceding year, the statement said. Efficiency and economy measures, however, netted a reduction in operating expenses of 24 per cent, with the result that the decrease in net operating revenue was only $14,635,218, a loss of 12 per cent as compared with 1937.

The statement showed that freight revenues had dropped 24 per cent during the year, totalling $259,257,751. Passenger revenues, which were $65,796,195, were down 8 per cent. Mail, express and other items also showed a decrease.

The company paid a dividend of 50 cents a share on capital stock, amounting to $6,583,877, continuing the unbroken record of paying a cash return to stockholders for 91 consecutive years.

CHEWERS KEEP CLEANERS BUSY

New Orleans Hires Work Crew To Remove Gum Wads.

NEW ORLEANS, La.—(AP)—It takes 17 men 22 nights a week to keep chewing gum wads cleaned up on Canal street, this city's main thoroughfare. A bucketful of gum wads is the nightly harvest.

Once while the gum cleaning crew was working away with putty knife, steel wool and scrub buckets, up walked a buxom woman. "Cleaning up gum, huh?" she inquired.

"Yes," a workman nodded.

"Well," she said, taking a large wad from her mouth, "here's some more to work on."

The clean-up crew works in groups of three. One man pries up the gum wads with a putty knife. Another applies mineral spirits to remove the stain and a third mops up with a steel wool buffer.

$900 Mistake In Bank Notes Causes Patrolman's Ouster.

CLEVELAND—(INS)— Because he allegedly admitted accepting a $1,000 bill when it was given to him by mistake instead of a $100 bill, Patrolman Roscoe H. Speas, 45, has been suspended from the Cleveland police department.

In announcing the suspension, Police Chief George J. Matowitz said that Speas at first denied receiving the bill. The error was made by a bank teller.

"EARLY BIRD" BY PROXY

British Experiment With Portable Shelters for Air Raids

A new type of steel air raid shelter is tested at Birmingham, England. Left, a wall of condemned factory falls on steel tubes which hold from one to four persons. Right, a girl steps from the shelter, unharmed. The steel is said to be proof against bombs, bricks, blasts, bullets, etc.

ZIMBALIST'S CONCERT THURSDAY TO CLOSE CIVIC MUSIC SEASON

One of the distinguished figures of the musical and concert world will appear in Mansfield Thursday night when Efrem Zimbalist brings several of his many violins here to play the last concert of the 1938-39 season of the Civic Music association.

Zimbalist has been on the world's stage of music since 1907 when he made his debut in Berlin, followed by a concert tour of England. At that time he was already the possessor of the gold medal award of the Imperial Conservancy of Petrograd and the Rubenstein scholarship of 12,000 rubles.

The young violinist made his American debut in 1911 with the Boston Symphony orchestra, and since then his name has been in the foreground wherever good music was available. His music became familiar to millions of Americans through his phonograph recordings of classical numbers.

Although born in Russia and traveling over the world many times on his tours, Zimbalist is essentially American. He has a home in New York City, a farm in Connecticut and both of his children were born here. In 1914 he married the beautiful opera and concert singer, Alma Gluck, who later gave up her career for private life.

The Zimbalist concert marks the end of the Mansfield Civic Music association's second season. The membership campaign for a third season gets under way March 12.

Charges Accuse Quartet Killed To Collect Insurance.

PHILADELPHIA —(U.P.)— Two men and two women, alleged members of a tri-state arsenic murder-for-insurance syndicate, today were under indictment on 14 true bills returned by the grand jury.

The indicted suspects are Paul Petrillo, 45, a South Philadelphia tailor, his cousin, Herman Petrillo, a Langhorne spaghetti salesman, Mrs. Stella Alfonsi and Mrs. Carina Fravata, wives of two of four victims on whose deaths the indictments are based.

The indictments charged murder, manslaughter, conspiracy to murder and conspiracy to cheat five insuranve companies of more than $20,000.

The City Loan's your "pioneer".
To help you clear the "debt frontier"
Our cash loan plan enables you
To be an "early settler" too . . .

By the looks of the hundreds of entries sent in to our Jingle Contest last month, "The City Loan" seems to be "an old Ohio custom" instead of just a "pioneer."

Nevertheless, we are proud to be called "your pioneer" if we can help you to "clear the ground" and set you on sound financial footing.

Call on us for cash to see you through your need. If a few hundred dollars will help you, our convenient loan plan will suit you well in every way.

2 INDICTED BY JURY TO GO ON TRIAL THURSDAY

Mansfielder Faces Blackmail Charge; Norwalk Man Held in Theft at Butler.

Two men indicted at the last session of the county grand jury are scheduled to go on trial Thursday before the petit jury and Judge C. H. Huston in common pleas court.

The defendants are Sam Anderson, 56, Mansfield, accused of blackmail, and Harold Courts, 33, of Norwalk, under indictment for breaking and entering. Both are in the county jail.

Appears As Witness.

Anderson was indicted unexpectedly by the grand jury after he appeared as a witness against Jay and Merlin Hunter, brothers, who were alleged to have assaulted him and taken his clothing.

Prosecutor G. W. Marriott urged indictment of Anderson, charging he collected $61 from the parents of the Hunter brothers for a promise that he (Anderson) would not prosecute the youths on a kidnaping charge.

The Hunter brothers were placed on probation after they pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with intent to rob.

Courts is alleged to have participated in the theft of 14 bushels of clover seed from a farm in Butler township.

Features Products From 51 Cities In 'Buy Ohio' Drive

A "Buy Ohio Products" campaign, featuring articles made in 51 Ohio cities was under way today at the F. W. Woolworth store on North Main street.

Window displays at the store show glassware, household utensils, candy and a number of other products from Buckeye factories, with a ribbon from each article leading to a placard on the window telling where the article was made.

H. L. Frick, manager of the store, said approximately 2,000 articles sold by his firm are made in Ohio. They represent about 25 per cent of the total number of products handled by the Woolworth store in Mansfield.

Other stores operated by the same firm in the state are featuring the Ohio products which will be displayed prominently for two weeks. The products include soap, clothing, household furnishings, toys and dishes.

FELLS GIANT SEQUOIA

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK, Cal.—(U.P.)—During an unusually heavy storm one of the giant Sequoia trees of the park was felled. It measured 20 feet in diameter. While four or five of these giants have fallen within the past four years, previous to that there had not been one crashed down since 1915.

NAMED COUNTY BEE INSPECTOR

Paul Leedy, Bellville, to Take Newly Created Job April 1.

Paul Leedy of Bellville had been appointed today to the post of Richland county bee inspector, a newly created job.

Appointed by the Richland County Beekeepers' association which has sought an inspector for several months, Leedy will begin his work April 1.

County commissioners have appropriated $250 toward his salary, and the association plans a drive to obtain additional funds to pay him during the coming season.

Leedy will inspect bee colonies for diseases which spread from one apiary to another, destroying the bees.

That's How

EPIDEMICS ARE BORN

TODAY, when thousands of persons live within a radius of a few miles, sanitation takes on tremendous importance—because it may protect or endanger the lives of hundreds.

One faulty plumbing job, installed by "handy men," may bring danger and death of scores of immediate neighbors or even to an entire section of the city.

Sewer leakage, caused by improper installation or use of cheap fixtures, sometimes forces waste into water supply sources, carrying infection to neighbors and entire sections of a city. That's the way epidemics are born.

That's the way Mansfield's typhoid epidemic in 1936, which cost seven lives started. That's how Chicago's amebic dysentery epidemic started during the World's Fair.

To prevent recurrences of these dangers, to improve the quality of workmanship, to insist upon regulations that will insure the public receiving what they pay for—that is the program of the Master Plumber's of Mansfield. For that reason we study plumbing problems, and for that reason we help maintain a plumbing research laboratory.

In order to further acquaint you with how proper plumbing can protect health and prevent disease we invite you to attend the lectures of Dr. Alexander Davis at The News-Journal Health, Beauty and Charm school at the High School Auditorium, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The following Master Plumbers are thoroughly acquainted with all these conditions and in a position to give expert advice.

Another Time of Testing.

A NUMBER of things combine to make this year's observance of Lincoln's and Washington's birthday anniversaries more thought-provoking than ordinary.

The contrast, for instance, between conditions in the United States and those in many other parts of the world, can scarcely fail to impress every American citizen who has ability to think clearly and who has sufficient information to provide a basis for thought.

Washington, Jefferson and other stalwart Americans of that period, fitted into the needs of their times and laid the firm foundations of a new nation which has progressed through a century and a half, to become the heritage of the present generation.

Fitting also into the requirement of his later time came the strange, humorous, sad-eyed Abraham Lincoln, who carried through during the tragic years of the war between the states and who told, in his Gettysburg address, about "a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal . . . testing whether any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure," and of the struggle to insure "that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Now, more than seventy-five years later, there is the same question in the minds of many thoughtful persons.

The threat is even greater than in the time of Washington or of Lincoln, for, in the intervening years this United States of America has become a far richer prize than in those earlier times and the covetous eyes of newly-risen dictators turn impudently toward America as offering opportunity for a further spread of influence and eventual power.

Democracy, liberty, equality under the law, the rights of people to live in accordance with the dictates of their own conscience—instead of conforming to the will of a tyrant or ruthless "state"—these are matters that are now engaging attention in the United States and other countries in which experiments in democracy are being made.

This period between the birth dates of Washington and Lincoln is a fitting time for rededication of Americans to the principles of Americanism, so that the propagandists of alien isms may be made to realize, once and for all, that a vast majority of the people of this country are still firmly convinced that a nation "conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal" will continue to endure—and that they will again fight for its preservation if aggressive acts make it necessary.

You, and Your Banker.

THE semi-public character of banking, and its historic vulnerability to popular sentiment and political attack, makes it imperative that understanding of and attention to public attitudes and reactions play a larger part in bank management in the future than they have in the past," says the American Bankers association.

Few borrowers ever like the man or the institution that lends them money. In addition, a sort of grim legend has grown up about bankers and banking, picturing the former as a rapacious crew of financial pirates, and the latter as an ice-cold institution which controls the nation's purse-strings. As a result, it has always been easy for the unscrupulous politician in need of a vote-getting issue, to make political capital out of the exaggerated and fallacious attacks on our financial structure.

The fact that banking has awakened to this and is taking steps to inform the public as to the fundamentals of its business, marks a move in the right direction. It will, in the long run serve to improve banking's service to the people.

Punch Board Banditry.

WHEN police authorities in Lorain confiscated a punch board in that city a day or so ago they punched out the entire 1,000 numbers on the board and found that the total of $50 that would have been paid by players would have drawn $11.75 in merchandise.

It would at least be interesting to know whether the Mansfield brand of punch boards, open operation of which is permitted in violation of law, returns any higher percentage to players. If not, the operation of these devices seems to come under the head of robbery, rather than gambling.

Killing Off Surplus Crows.

AN EFFORT is being made to rid northern Colorado of crows. Airplanes flush flocks of them from their roosting places and as they fly about in confusion, volunteer hunters on the ground let go with their guns and large numbers of crows are killed.

In one of the first experimental raids, it is reported, 100 men, armed with shotguns, killed about 1,000 crows.

The authorities no doubt know what they are doing. There are probably too many crows in that section but exterminators should be careful not to carry their work too far. The crow, formerly regarded as a corn thief and bad actor in general, is now recognized by scientists as a beneficial bird and a true friend of the farmer. It eats vast numbers of injurious insects, earning many times over the pay it takes from the farmer in grain. If the birds are actually exterminated, and not merely reduced in numbers, the people of that region are likely to find their insect enemies gaining on them.

Mussolini has decided that 15 cents a day is not a large enough dole for the unemployed. But don't Italy's unemployed decide how much dole they should have?

A New York court has ruled that college credits are not proof of mental capacity required for police jobs—which justifies more thought than can be given it at the moment.

"Women drivers are all right," says a typical male, "but I want 'em behind me, so I won't be wondering what they're going to do."

Herr Goebbels wants the German people to be humorous—but he also wants it distinctly understood that Hitler is no joke.

It's such words as "laughter" and "daughter" that make English pronunciation difficult for foreigners.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — Possibly the unluckiest (or the luckiest) man in the country today is Joseph George Strecker of Hot Springs, Ark., who is being used as a legal guinea pig to decide whether Harry Bridges, West Coast CIO longshoremen's leader, shall be deported.

The U. S. Supreme Court has Strecker's case in hand and a decision will be down soon. But the big game in the woods is not inconsequential Strecker, but consequential Bridges.

The law says any alien advocating overthrow of the U. S. government by force must be deported. The justice department in prosecuting Strecker argued that communism advocates overthrow of the government, and therefore an alien Communist can't stay here.

District Judge Wayne G. Borah (nephew of the senator) decided that was so and Strecker must go. The Fifth Circuit court disagreed and reversed the decision. From there the case went to the Supreme Court.

How Bridges Fits In.

BRIDGES comes into the picture this way. His many critics, including Representative Dies, investigating un-American activities, have contended that files in the Labor department prove that Bridges not only was a Communist but had personally advocated violent overthrow of the government.

Secretary of Labor Perkins persistently has denied this but in 1937 the department discovered more substantial evidence and began deportation proceedings against Bridges. It was ticklish business for an administration supported by labor. Bridges is a big CIO figure.

Then up came the circuit court decision in the Strecker case holding that an alien couldn't be deported just because he was a Communist. The Labor department grabbed it, suspended proceedings against Bridges and announced that no decision would be reached until the Supreme Court decision in the Strecker case showed the way.

Since Strecker's case became the proving ground, strong left wing organizations have come forward with attorneys. To the left wing labor movement Bridges has been worth his weight in gold and not one to be given up easily.

For five years Bridges, an Australian with a hatchet face and a winning way with waterfront workers, has been a pain in the side of most West Coast ship operators. He organized dock workers from Seattle to San Diego. He snatched unions away from AFL and linked them to John L. Lewis' CIO. So AFL is against him. CIO leaders fear him. The American Legion has pledged aid in having him put out of the country.

Three times he has started the naturalization process, but each time dropped it.

Just a Bystander.

AS TO Strecker, he is a sort of "innocent bystander." An alien of Austrian origin he joined the Communist party in 1932 and passed out campaign handbills. He resigned in 1933. In ruling on his case, the circuit court recalled that the deportation law was enacted during the jittery period after Russia went Communist.

"Much water, socially and politically, has gone under the bridge since 1920," the court said.

"The evidence for Strecker makes him out a small bourgeoise, a merchant, with a little capital, some canniness, a fair amount of human kindness, some bad habits and apparently no quarrel with the government of the United States."

Even if the court holds that an alien can't be deported just because he is a Communist, Bridges' foes can still press their claim that he advocated violent overthrow of the government. But Secretary Perkins says that is just waterfront chatter.

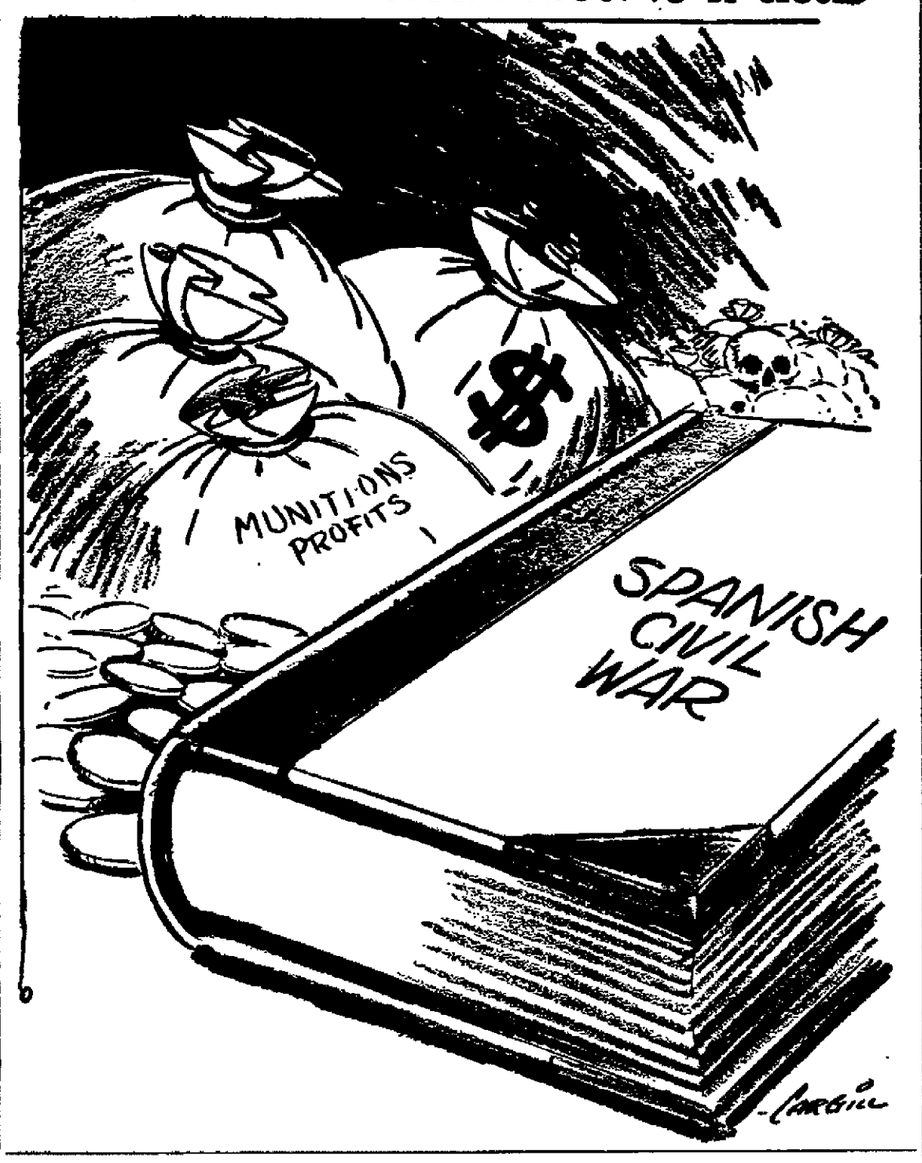
ANOTHER GOOD ACCOUNT ABOUT TO BE CLOSED



Lower Federal Courts Under Fire

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The lower federal courts have come in for a good bit of unfavorable publicity lately. The purity of the supreme court's record is not questioned. It was attacked as reactionary during the administration's fight to increase its membership some months ago but even its severest critics did not say it was dishonestly reactionary; they only said it was temperamentally so. And it has been considerably made over since then. I think also that the campaign to reorganize it scared a modicum of liberality into two or three of its older-fashioned jurists. Possibly it is a jailable offense to say so, but it is a guess that I hear whispered.

At the same time that the supreme bench was under fire, the lesser federal tribunals likewise underwent quite a raking. It was complained that they were behind on their calendars—that litigants did not get quick enough action. The suggestion was made that proctors ought to be named, to accelerate proceedings—maybe that there ought to be more judges.

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, head of the justice department, started an investigation. He did not suspect and was not looking for evidence of actual judicial "funny-business." He was trying to investigate only charges of incompetency or lassitude.

Now Attorney General Cummings's successor, Attorney General Frank Murphy, has taken over his predecessor's quiz. And Murphy is dealing with stories of outright nefariousness in the federal judicial administration. He has not progressed far enough to have anything definite to say, but he is probing and probing and probing.

Not Much "Color" Yet.

I can't see that he's got much "color" yet, as old time western gold prospectors used to express it. True, he has former Judge Martin T. Manton "on the pan." All the same, he hasn't "panned" anything OUT of Judge Manton yet. The judge certainly did resign rather peculiarly, giving rise to a lot of rumors as to "racketeering" on the bench.

Aside from Manton, what federal judge is being even shot at?

I don't know of anyone at present.

To be sure, the District of Columbia court has a very dirty case on its hands. Three brothers of the name of Warring, are accused of running a "numbers racket." They cannot be convicted of it; so, in order to convict them of SOMETHING, they are being prosecuted as income tax evaders.

It is like Al Capone's case. Al could not be convicted as a murderer, so he was convicted as an income tax evader.

The Warrings are not so easy to convict. They got a hung jury. Retried, their second trial blows up, because of U. S. deputy marshal's activities to fix the new jury in the defense's behalf. It is not the fault of the judge. It is the fault of his underlings. The argument is that these underlings ought to be put on a civil service basis, to keep them honest. They plead guilty.

Out of Politics.

Recently the president had occasion to appoint a local federal judge in Virginia. Senators Glass and Byrd, the two Virginia solons, made recommendations. Senator Byrd is a candidate for senatorial reelection in 1940. Acceptance of his recommendation would have been helpful to him. But Governor Price of Virginia made an alternative suggestion.

Price senatorially is trying to lick Byrd next year.

Byrd is an anti-New Dealer, Price is a "pro."

Yet the dope is that President Roosevelt, in naming Price's candidate, was endeavoring to keep politics out of judicial appointments.

I can understand that Senator Byrd doesn't think so.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, Feb. 20, 1919.

Judge Edwin Mansfield was elected president of board of directors of Ohio Seamless Tube company, Shelby.

Mansfield's need for a new and larger Y. M. C. A. building was being strongly stressed.

Dance was given in new welfare building of Ohio Brass company.

Edwin G. Slough was again chosen secretary of Chamber of Commerce, after having served in that capacity from 1906 to 1916.

Frank L. Sloan, employe of Constance Lumber company, moved here from Cincinnati.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, Feb. 20, 1934.

The Union Pacific streamlined, all-aluminum train stopped for ten minutes in Mansfield on way from Washington to Detroit and 3,000 gathered at station to see it.

State liquor board designated 25 South Park street, Mansfield, and 56 West Main street, Shelby, as location for two Richland county liquor stores.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hines, Glenwood boulevard, left for New York City, Atlantic City and Washington.

Sixteen friends of Doris Stafford, Woodland avenue, were invited to a party on her 10th birthday.

Ray V. Sawhill, former Mansfield newspaper man, Chicago, was visiting his sister, Mrs. Fred Weaver, Sherman avenue.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Joseph Jefferson was born on February 20, 1829, in Philadelphia. He was one of the most famous of American actors. His chief role was "Rip Van Winkle," in the play dramatized by himself and Dion Boucicault from Irving's tale.

Whooping Cough Mistaken In Adults.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WE ARE in the midst of an epidemic of whooping cough of widespread distribution on the North American continent. I heard of many cases in New York and when I visited the Pacific coast there it was also.

There are a great many cases among adults. Nothing is strange about that because in all epidemics of children's diseases adults are likely to be sporadically affected, but what is strange is that so many cases of whooping cough in adults go on unrecognized. The cases are called la grippe or bronchitis, and drag along until somebody hears the patient give a whoop and that reveals the diagnosis.

The lack of recognition comes up very naturally. The doctor sees the patient only once perhaps and finds a cough and a temperature. It isn't natural to think of whooping cough in a strapping husky of 25. And the "cold" drags along. Nobody thinks to tell the doctor about the vomiting or the whooping, and the condition may become rather serious, to say nothing of the spread of the disease from these wandering, unrecognized carriers.

Case of Interne.

To show how real this situation may be, I know of an interne in a hospital, a grown man of 30, who came down with a cough. He was surrounded by doctors and nurses, but nobody realized what was the matter with him until he visited a friend's house where he fell into a paroxysm of coughing, strangled, gagged and threw up. Then the old grandmother of the household exclaimed, "Heaven bless us! the lad's got whooping cough."

I know of another case in a young lady of 18 whose mother insisted she had whooping cough but two doctors stoutly maintained she did not. A blood count showed the doctors were wrong and the mother right.

The disease may run its course without the typical whoop ever being heard. So a cough not accompanied by fever (of any high degree) or signs recognizable by the stethoscope on the chest, which steadily increases in severity for two weeks in spite of treatment, and which occurs chiefly at night, is always suspicious. A blood count is a great help in diagnosis up to the period of convalescence.

Treating Adult.

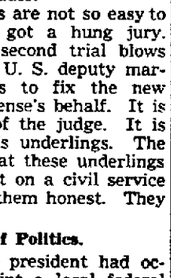
In treatment for the adult case, the cough should be stringently controlled by sedatives. Nutrition must be maintained as the vomiting may cause weakness and considerable loss of weight. The vomiting is not accompanied by nausea; it is simply a reflex gagging due to the ropy mucus in the throat, and after every vomiting more food should be forced. The best drug is still probably antipyrine, which in adults assumes the role of a specific. But the most important thing is to prevent the adult whooping cough patient from spreading the disease to others.

A Farmer's Diary

My Native Cove.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I WAS born in Morrison's Cove, among the Pennsylvania hills. Legend has it that a horse thief gave the place his name, when he used it, years ago, as a natural corral for droves of horses stolen in the east and driven westward through the mountains for safe keeping. The honest folk of Morrison's Cove insist there is no real foundation for the story, and as far as I can trace my own ancestry, I believe I am no kin to him. But this nook among the mountains has a unique charm, even for those not fortunate enough to have been born there.



My wife, on our first visit to those native haunts of mine, declared it savored of Acadia. The settlers are not French, though, but Swiss and German by descent. They came from across the sea, or from eastern counties of the state, with their guns, their axes and their Bibles, to carve their homes out of the forest. They built stone houses, of the native limestone rock, many of which are still standing, after centuries. They farmed the fertile land and built little white churches at many of the crossroads.

Every farmstead has its spring of sparkling limestone water, its spring house and its summer kitchen. The foothills of the Alleghenies tower on every side. One sees the eagles hover above the crags, and hears the roar of waterfalls. Yet the land is rich and fertile as only good limestone land can be. The fields are full of sleek cattle, and flocks of sheep roam through green pastures.

This garden spot stretches for nearly forty miles, an average width of eight miles, between Williamsburg and Loysburg. To visit it at harvest time is a treat for any farmer; to see it at any other season is to feel its scenic beauty and to get an atmosphere of antiquity and solid goodness. For though most farms are modern now — they have electric lights and motor cars—one still sees an occasional ox team upon the mountain roads and catches the tinkle of cowbells from hillside pastures.

In fancy I often go back to boyhood days, when I built waterwheels beside those spring-fed streams, played with my brothers along those dusty lanes—and I'll confess, I'm homesick.

Listen, World!

Should Prospective Citizens Take Mental Tests?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

DO WE, in some states, hold our votes too cheaply? Are we lowering our whole national standard by granting suffrage to the incompetent and unfit? And is this the source of ever-increasing disloyalty and demoralization?

A Young American wonders... and herewith expresses his amazement and disgust. Fellow Citizens, we present William Bender, jr., of Denver, Col., with a letter which is guaranteed to give you pause.

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"For years it was drilled into me that the most important thing to be gained by 'coming of age' was the right to vote. But now that I've completed three years at a university and am a registered voter, I'm wondering if this voting privilege means anything under our present system. The vote of the most ignorant and uninformed citizen counts for just as much as mine.

"While I was registering, another voter presented his application. He couldn't even speak English and had brought along an interpreter! Still another refused to swear to the veracity of his statements—but the examiner okayed his registration! These people have just as much to say about running the government as the most intelligent, loyal citizen in the land!

"WHY NOT REQUIRE THAT EVERY VOTER PASS AN INTELLIGENCE TEST — OR NO VOTE ALLOWED. THIS WOULD HAVE A DOUBLE EFFECT—INCREASE THE LEVEL OF INTELLIGENCE AMONG VOTERS AND RAISE THE CALIBER OF CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE."

William Bender, Jr.,—age 22,
Denver, Colo.

Personally, I heartily endorse young William's attitude. I have never been able to se why the noblest and most dearly bought privilege on earth...the privilege of being an American citizen... should be handed out to any applicant who can mumble a few phrases, parrot fashion, and answer a few stereotyped questions. And my doubt extends to the native-born as well as aliens. Why should ANYONE receive so easily an heritage which was bought at so great a price?

It was my great privilege to know, as a girl, many of the pioneers who established our western frontier. I saw the actual making of part of our America ...witnessed at first-hand the hardships and privations of those heroic men and women. I knew mothers who had borne and buried babies on the Covered Wagon Trails...men who had seen their young wives abducted by Indians...brides who had seen their husbands scalped.

They did not learn their suffrage out of a book—those empire builders. They did not pay for it by a few patterned phrases. It was wrung from their tortured flesh...their desolated hearts ...their desperate but determined minds. It was sealed with their tears and sweat and blood.

AMERICANISM MEANS SOMETHING WHEN IT IS BOUGHT AT SUCH A PRICE. IT IS NOT A LIGHT MATTER. YOU CAN BANK ON IT.

But how much does copy-book Americanism mean? What does it contribute to the country it vows to defend? How long could you depend upon it in a crisis? Incredible as it seems, we actually make more fuss over certifying our cattle than we do over naturalizing our imported citizens! And, if it came to a pinch, the moo-cow, in some cases, would make a far finer patriot any time!

And it's up to you. Mental tests for future Americans.... would you advise them? If not, what's YOUR plan. Or are you satisfied with our present eenie-meenie-mine-mo procedure?

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Anton Bruehl is a superb color photographer, maybe the best on earth. That's my opinion. That's all drama criticism or any criticism ever is, one man's opinion.

I don't know any other color photographers, and I never knew Bruehl until his pictures began to stick in my mind and stay there and make me think about them until finally I got into a cab and went over to 480 Lexington avenue, where his studio is.

If you pick up Vogue or Harpers Bazaar or similar publications you will come across Bruehl's pictures, gorgeous whole pages in color that make your mouth water. It may be for liquor or cigarets, cosmetics or silver wear, perfumes or tropic fruits. It doesn't matter. Bruehl's camera is a sort of magic wand that he waves over the things he photographs. If he were to photograph a shell you could place it close to your ear and hear the roar of the sea.

COLOR photography is enormously expensive. It costs real money to have your portrait taken in color, and especially if Bruehl takes it. Just one shot costs between $600 and $1,000. Sometimes it takes the better part of a day to take one picture. Always it takes the better part of two days to make the color print. That is why you don't go to Bruehl just for a photograph to decorate the living room table. Nearly all of his work is for magazine advertising

Sometimes you see photographs of pretty girls, almost invariably blond, skiing down a mountainside in Switzerland. But those pictures weren't taken in Switzerland. They were taken in Lexington avenue in Manhattan. And sometimes you come across picturesque studies of the languorous tropics—surf-riders off Waikiki, hula girls wearing ti-leaf skirts, native fruits and flowers ... All those were taken here.

Bruehl may go to Hawaii soon for a new series of pictures. He wants to go. But he doesn't know whether he can get away. You would think he was a native, if you saw his pictures, but he has been there only once, and that for one day 20 years ago on his way to America from Australia. He is Australian born. His father was a ship's doctor and never left Australia after landing there one day.

AMONG Bruehl's favorite models are Dana Jenney, Susan Shaw, Elise Knox, and Pualani Mossman. All except Pualani are blonds. Jet black hair, he says, is difficult to photograph and even more difficult to reproduce. When he selects a girl she must have these qualities — youth, health, and "average beauty." This means a buoyance of spirit that shows through the eyes and in the smile. Technical beauty ("the kind that stuns") isn't necessary at all. But all of his models are pretty. Dana Jenney, who is now in Paris to model new styles for Harpers Bazaar, is the sophisticated type. He mentioned this, but explained that ultra sophistication is never essential, because "sophisticated people aren't average people."

Pualani Mossman is his favorite model for pictures with a South Seas locale, "because she epitomizes the mood knows what to do, is easy to work with, and photographs beautifully." That's quite a recommendation.

Timely Editorial

It Would Be Sensational.

What would be the most sensational piece of government news that could come out of Washington? It is hard to imagine.

But for the moment we can think of nothing which would be more surprising than a definite statement by President Roosevelt that he was right in the position he took before entering the White House and that he intends seeing that federal waste and extravafance are cut out and taxes reduced.

Such a statement would be such a shock that people would pinch themselves to make sure they weren't dreaming.—Detroit Free Press.

CHAPTER XXX

Nothing had changed at Angela's. But gray, cheerless, deserted as it was, it made you welcome, Alix thought. The red tablecloths had faded a little more since that March night when Kurt first brought her here. It was cool and damp. Not snow today, but September rain falling drearily and steadily. One of Angela's six sons sat at a nearby table drawing with crayons.

The bell that had clanged Alix's entrance had a melancholy tune. Another little boy with unruly black hair and eager dark eyes peered from the untidy kitchen. Then Angela, wearing a clean gingham dress, came out and went to the corner table to Alix.

"Do you remember me, Angela? Waffles and strawberry jam? Kurt Deering and Alix Barton?"

In an excited and delightful mixture of Italian and English, Angela assured her that she had not forgotten, that she never forgot a face, and hurried to the kitchen to mix the waffles.

Alix, wearing a blue dress and a blue turban, pulled off her black gloves and folded her hands. Do you remember . . . "Funny," she thought, "it's almost as if Kurt were here. He's so close. I remember our times here to clearly—the way he looked, the way he smiled, the things he said. I remember how I had to guard my eyes and my voice to keep him from knowing how much I cared."

But her dreams had not begun in this shabby little place. She had had them for as long as she could remember; but they had stopped painfully and suddenly when Gina said "Kurt and I are secretly married" that night when nothing had seemed to matter very much.

Alix did not see the black and silver car stop. But when the bell clanged its melancholy note again, she looked up and saw him. It must have been a very long time, she thought later, before either spoke. Alix saw that his eyes were intense and excited, and Kurt saw her red mouth tremble a little and her eyes kindle with a light she tried to guard again . . .

She thought, "Why have you come, Kurt? It was so much nicer to pretend. I was playing a little game of unreality. We'll be very cool and polite to each other and I'll ask about Gina and perhaps now you'll tell me that you are married. And perhaps I'll tell you, if you think to ask, that I'm not going to marry Eddie. But I won't tell you that I'm not going to marry him or any one else because all I had to give I gave to you. There's nothing left to give to any other man no matter where I am this winter or any other winter. Let's get this over quickly."

He thought, "How lovely she is! She's here because I brought her here and we were together here. This place is dear to her."

Then he went to her and sat opposite her.

But he was different, Alix thought. Very sunburned, yes. But he didn't look at her casually. He looked as if he had much to tell her but that he did not quite know how to say it yet . . .

She said, "Now it's my turn to say 'Hello, stranger' to you. How are you, Kurt?"

I am doing very well, she thought. My voice is light and merely friendly. We'll have a pleasant luncheon together and we'll part again as we have so many times before and I'll go out to Ivy House and tell Eddie again that I can't marry him because Kurt would always be between us . . .

He reached for her small warm hands and held them tightly.

"Alix, darling, look at me. And listen to me. Look at me the way . . . the way a man in love wants the girl he's in love with to look at him. I'm not married to Gina! She lied to you. And I don't love her. She's in Hollywood and that's enough about her.

"All this summer I've been living a stone's throw away from Tuck and didn't know it until this morning. All this summer I've been in love with you. But I didn't see you because you said you didn't care and because I was afraid you'd think I'd come to you on the rebound after Gina. But this morning I saw Tuck who told me that . . . No, you tell me, Alix. Tell me . . ."

"I love you. I love you, Kurt!"

"I don't deserve it. I never earned it. Alix, my darling . . ."

Eddie parked his car beside the black and silver car and got out.

Through the window on which the rain was beating he saw them. Their hands were clasped across the table, their lips were moving and smiling, and their eyes saw only each other.

Eddie thought, "And all because he had a faster car. No. She wouldn't have, anyway. She had her mind made up last night. And she was right."

Pulling the collar of his raincoat around his neck, pulling his hat brim down, he looked at them again and then, taking a railroad ticket from his pocket, tore it into fine bits and threw them into the wet street. He wouldn't intrude and yet he wanted to say to Alix, "You were right. I don't want a wife who loves another man the way you love Kurt. I want to be head man in my wife's life. And now it's all set for you two."

Oh, well, there were a lot of girls in Chicago and his mother had not favored marriage when he mentioned it to her . . .

Kurt said, "I thought it was Eddie."

Smiling, Alix said, "It could never be Eddie. It was you all the time. What did Tuck say?"

"What didn't she say? She bawled me out. Alix, I said something about star dust in your eyes one night . . . Now your eyes look as they did that night."

"Because until now there hasn't been any star dust in them."

"I took it away."

"You put it back. Kurt . . ."

He locked her fingers tightly in his. "Tuck told me to hurry. Bernice told me to hurry. They'll be anxious. And all I want to do is sit here and look at you and love you and . . . be thankful. Do you want to wait a little longer before you marry me?"

"I've been waiting since March. I don't want to wait any longer."

"We'll go out to Ivy House and tell Bernice. She'll call Nancy, and Nancy will call Don and Tod. We'll send a car for Tuck. But we'll stop on the way out there and get a license and we'll call in a clergyman this afternoon and be married. We'll get a train to New York and a boat tomorrow . . . Are you ready, darling?"

Her voice was soft. "I'm ready. I'll always be ready to go anywhere with you, but we're forgetting that new law—we must wait three days."

"We can wait—now that you're mine."

In the black and silver car he took her in his arms and kissed her.

"Alix, do you remember?"

"I remember everything. The first time you kissed me . . ."

"A moment ago was the second time and another moment will be the third time. Darling, there are going to be so many you'll never be able to count them all . . ."

They had forgotten Angela, who was standing at the window looking at them, smiling broadly, unconscious that one of her small sons was standing beside her, smiling broadly, too.

When she saw him, she said, "I knew it all the time, Tony. Why were they worrying? You go back to your drawing."

"Aw, but you're still lookin'," the black-eyed little boy said.

She nodded. "I'm looking at two of my best customers. Tony, your mother tells fortunes—right!

Yes, Nickle's Bread will help to bring you "back to life" if you are listless, lack appetite, haven't the energy to do things. Endorsed by leading dietitians as well as educators like Dr. Davis, you have the maker's assurance that Nickle's Butternut Bread is a superior and indispensable article of diet.

Nickles also make whole wheat bread, cracked wheat bread and give you too, "Home Bake" Rye and Pastries. Delivered at your home, every day!

All these fine products work into the flavor harmony plan. Eat Nickle's bread with your meals—frst a bite of salad, then a bite of bread. Then a bit of meat, and again a bite of bread. Eaten this way, Nickle's bread brings out flavor, builds health—the Flavor Harmony Plan.

Hear Dr. Alexander Davis at the Health, Beauty and Charm School sponsored by The Mansfield News-Journal tomorrow and Wednesday. Sessions at the Senior High School from 2 to 4. Dr. Davis says, "Good bread, like Nickle's, is a necessary article of diet to be used at every meal. Contrary to general opinion, bread is not fattening to active, normal persons, but a strength and endurance building food."

ESSAY CONTEST ENDS IN 2 DAYS

Richland Students Have Until Wednesday Night to Enter Annual Legion Event.

Students of Richland county junior and senior high schools have two more days to enter the annual American Legion essay contest, Legion officials announced today.

The contest closes at midnight Wednesday and all entries must be in the hands of an official of the essay committee before that time, they said.

Essays this year must be written on the subject, "How Shall We Preserve American Democracy?" Pupils of the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th grades of all public, private and parochial schools are eligible to enter.

The 12 boys and girls writing the best essays in the state will receive an all-expense trip to Washington, D. C. In addition to being eligible for the state awards, students in Mansfield and communities where there are no Legion posts, are also eligible for the McVey Post, No. 16 cash awards amounting to $36. Prizes will go to the first three winners in each of the four grades.

Members of the McVey Post essay committee are H. D. Bishop, chairman, L. A. Cook, Fred E. Elder, G. W. Harmony, E. R. Jenkins, J. K. Oberlin, W. J. Schnug, and James L. Zimmerman.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Handy Hints for Preparation of Varieties of Pastries

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
(AP Feature Service Writer)

Cherries won't be ripe for some time, but that needn't keep you from having luscious cherry pie on Washington's birthday.

Canned cherries are about as good for pies as freshly-picked ones. Most housewives prefer the canned "pie cherries," as they are called, which are put up without any sugar. They retain the flavor, color and texture of fresh cherries and are very easy to use.

Favorite Two-Cruster.

The old-fashioned two-crust cherry pie heads the list in popularity, but that type has some formidable rivals.

If you want a pastry that will keep well, though prepared ahead of time, jellied cherry pie is the thing. It's an unusually festive pie, too.

Simmer for fifteen minutes three cups of unsweetened red cherries with one cup of granulated sugar and a cup of cherry juice. Then drain off juice, but save it. Soak one tablespoon of granulated gelatin in one-fourth of a cup of cold water, dissolve in the cherry juice, reheated to boiling. Chill until quite quivery.

Fold in the sweetened cherries, one-fourth of a teaspoon of cinnamon, one-fourth of a teaspoon of grated orange rind and a third of a cup of broken nutmeats (black walnuts preferred). Chill until quite thick and then fill a baked pie crust. Keep in a cold place until serving time and top with whipped cream, slightly sweetened and flavored with just a little chopped candied orange peel.

A Quick Pie.

When you want a pie and don't have any too much time to make it, try this opened face tart pie. You can make a large one or individual ones. Bake a crust. When serving time is near fill it with three cups of red cherries that have been cooked with one cup of granulated sugar and two tablespoons of flour until thick. Cool and cover criss-cross fashion with white cream cheese pressed through a pastry tube. If you don't have a tube dab the cheese all over the cherries. This dessert is good warm or cold.

Then you can vary the crust for cherry pie by using rolled toast or zweiback crumbs. Here is a recipe: Mix one and a half cups of rolled zweiback (unsweetened) with half a cup of butter, a teaspoon of cinnamon and one-fourth of a cup of light brown sugar. Reserve one-fourth of the crumbs and pour rest in a buttered pie pan. Fill with two cups of seeded cherries, mixed with two tablespoons of flour and half a cup of granulated sugar. Quickly cover with reserved crumbs and bake twenty-five minutes in a slow oven. Cool and serve plain or topped with whipped cream.

Deep-Dish Recipe.

Deep-dish cherry pies have many followers, and justly so. Pour a two-inch layer of cherry mixture into a shallow dish or pan and cover it with cake batter, pie-crust or rich biscuit dough. Bake about 25 minutes in a moderate oven.

You can ring in changes on any kind of cherry pie by accompanying it with hard or lemon sauce or cream cheese mixed with whipped cream or grated zippy yellow cheese. Pass or spread over top of pie just before it is served.

Old-Fashioned Cherry Pie

An old-fashioned cherry pie becomes a holiday climax when decorated with cherries in honor of George Washington. Two cups pitted red cherries (or one No. 2 can), 1½ cups granulated sugar, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon butter, plain pastry for two-crust nine-inch pie. Drain cherries. Cover with sugar and let stand 10 or 15 minutes. Line a nine-inch pie plate with pastry. Pat two tablespoons of flour into the surface of the lower crust. Fill the crust with the sweetened cherries and dredge with remaining two tablespoons of flour. Dot surface with butter and place top crust in usual manner. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 300 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes.

Cleaning Shoes

When your suede shoes become mud stained, let them dry thoroughly and then use a stiff wire brush and carefully brush off the dust. If stains remain rub them with clothes cleaners, and brush again. After several brushings your shoes should look like new.

Sure Seal

A sure seal for jellies, jams and other home-made delicacies is two layers of paraffin. Place a thin layer of melted paraffin on the food when it has cooled and cover it with more paraffin, slightly cooled (it thickens quicker) and extend it over the edge of the glass or jar.

Cooky Help

When making rolled cookies it is advisable to chill the dough (over night is not too long). The dough can be handled more easily and the cookies quickly cut out. Our grandmothers frequently rolled the dough on a large board and chilled it out of doors for several hours.

Embellished

To transform a plain omelet into a hearty dish for supper, luncheon or dinner, use a sauce. Savory cream sauce with some chopped cooked ham, or cheese sauce and minced ripe olives or tomato sauce mixed with browned mushrooms will do the trick.

Try this "dessert method" for pancakes. Bake four large pancakes, quickly spread jam on each. Stack the cakes and sprinkle granulated sugar lightly on them. Surround with warm orange sauce, cue in wedge-shaped pieces and serve nice for a bridge club luncheon dessert.

HEADS GRANGE

NEW LONDON—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Earl of Fitchville township were appointed Saturday to the posts of Huron county grand deputy master and juvenile matron. They succeed Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Knapp of New London.

The appointments were confirmed Saturday night by State Grange Master Walter F. Kirk at a meeting of the Huron County Pamona grange at Wakeman.

GALION — W. M. Sulier, proprietor of the filling station at East Church and East street, reported that the place had been robbed some time early Sunday morning or late Saturday night. He reported only a dollar in pennies taken and cigarets.

GALION PAIR GREETED SUNDAY ON 50TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

GALION — Many relatives, friends, and old neighbors called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Quin Dewalt of 639 Cherry street, Sunday to help them celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. The couple also received cards, floral and other gifts, to congratulate them.

At noon a dinner was served to members of the couple's immediate families, and to Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Knepp of the United Brethren church. Covers were laid for 35 guests. During the afternoon between the hours of three and five, and in the evening from seven to nine o'clock, open house was observed.

Mr. Dewalt and Alice Hoover, both of North Robinson, were married at North Robinson on Feb. 19, 1889, at the United Brethren parsonage. The couple have lived in Galion for the past 25 years after living on farms between Shelby and Liberty, and west of Galion. They are the parents of two daughters, Mrs. Glen Gnagy of Galion and Mrs. Luther Nipper of Mansfield, and a son, Clark Dewalt of Huron, Ohio. There are 15 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. A daughter died several years ago.

Four generations were represented at the dinner Sunday. They were Mrs. Dewalt; her daughter, Mrs. Glen Gnagy; Harold Bender, son of Mrs. Gnagy; and Mr. Bender's daughter, Marilyn.

Among the guests present Sunday were Mrs. Dewalt's two brothers and their wives, Henry Hoover of Mansfield, and Lincoln Hoover of Biddle, north of Galion; and Mrs. Dewalt's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Steele of Galion; and another sister-in-law, Mrs. Amanda Hoover of Galion.

Frances Unckrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Unckrich of Galion has received special recognition for high scholastic rating at St. Mary's college, Notre Dame, Indiana, during the past semester. She was on the honor roll for the fall term which means that she must have received in all courses at least a grade of "B."

How to get a LOAN of $200 at lower cost

No co-signers or endorsers
No embarrassment or delay

●When you borrow, you should know these facts about small loan rates. The Small Loan Law of this state permits a certain maximum rate to be charged for a loan. On all loans of more than $100 Household Finance does not charge the full rate!

Check these savings

Suppose you need $140. At the lawful maximum rate the cost of your loan for 30 days is $4.20. At Household's lower rates the charge is $3.80—a saving of 40c. On a loan of $200 the cost for 30 days at the lawful maximum rate is $6.00. At Household's rates the charge is $5.00—a saving of $1.00. (Thirty day loans are used as examples for convenience. Loans for longer terms naturally cost less per month.)

You may apply to Household Finance for a loan of $20 to $300. You need no stocks, bonds or other bankable security. No one need sign with you (married couples sign together). You get your loan without delay and without embarrassment to you.

Don't Get a Loan until you read these features of the Household Finance Loan Plan

1. Anyone may apply to Household Finance for a loan of $20 to $300 on furniture, car or note.
2. Small monthly payments. Example: $8.00 first month, decreasing each month to $5.15 last month, repays a $100 loan in 20 months, including charges, provided principal is repaid as agreed.
3. You do not need co-makers or endorsers. No salary or wage assignment required.
4. Household Finance's monthly charge is less than the lawful maximum on all loans above $100.
5. Quick action. No undue waiting.
6. Loan may be repaid ahead of schedule to reduce the cost. Charge is made on unpaid balance only.
7. No credit inquiries made of friends or relatives. Private consultation rooms.

RITES SET FOR B. R. KEELER OF NEAR GALION

Huron County Native Dies at Son's Home; Funeral to Be Held Tuesday.

GALION—Funeral services for Burton R. Keeler, residing six miles west of Mansfield on the Lincoln Highway, will be held in Galion, Tuesday, at 2 p. m. at the home of his son, Raymond W. Keeler of 735 Hardingway west. Rev. W. N. Robertson, pastor of the First Methodist church will officiate and burial will be made in the Mansfield cemetery in charge of the Snyder funeral home of Galion.

Mr. Keeler, who had been ill for the past five weeks, was able to come to Galion Saturday for treatment by a local physician. Becoming too ill to return to his home, he died Saturday evening at 7:45 o'clock at the home of his son here.

He was born in Huron county, Jan. 1, 1874, the son of George and Charlotte (Davis) Keeler. His marriage was May 21, 1895, to Bessie M. Leach who survives.

Besides his widow he is survived by his son, Raymond W.; a grandson, Herbert; one sister, Opal M. Kelly of Pittsburgh, Pa.; and three brothers, Charles D. Keeler of Springfield, O., George L. Keeler of South Charleston, O., and Walter G. Keeler of Mansfield.

The deceased had lived on the Keeler farm near Mansfield for the past four and one-half years, coming from Springfield. He was a member of the First Methodist church.

BOY KILLED BY TRAIN

GALION — The body of eight-year-old Robert Hottenroth, former Galion resident, was brought to the Whittridge mortuary at 3:45 a. m. today, and later taken to the home of the maternal grandmother, Mrs. C. E. Buckingham of 211 First avenue. Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Buckingham home. Rev. O. E. Knepp, pastor of the United Brethren church, will officiate, and burial will be made in Fairview cemetery here.

Robert was killed Friday afternoon by a train at Brunswick, Georgia. Other details of his death were not received here in the message sent to the grandmother.

He was born in Galion, Sept. 15, 1930. He and his mother, Mrs. Clara Mae Murdock left Galion several months ago to make their home at Brunswick, Georgia. Surviving besides his mother and grandmother, Mrs. Buckingham, is his father, Lee Hottenroth of Galion.

DistricT BREVITIES

GREENWICH—New telephone and electric line poles are being erected in Greenwich to do away with a number of the unsightly poles along the streets. The new poles will carry both the telephone and electric wires.

NEW HAVEN—Fire damaged the east side of the New Haven church building Saturday afternoon before the flames were brought under control.

LOUDONVILLE — Robert Mosher, 20, suffered a minor fracture of his right leg Thursday when he was caught between the bumpers on two cars. X-rays showed the small bone was cracked just below the knee.

GALION — Wilbur Butterfield, who has been in the Veterans' hospital, Dayton, for observation, returned home here last week.

Shelby

A patriotic party will be held by the Methodist Epworth league at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the church social rooms. Refreshments will be served by the committee comprised of the Misses Kathryn Metz chairman; Eloise Walker, Eunice Went, Jeannette Greenslade and Lois Walker.

"H. G. Wells, a Sample Mind," will be the general topic of discussion when Mrs. E. W. McNeill leads the regular meeting of the Anna R. Fish Delphian chapter at 7:30 p. m. today at Central grade school. Other leaders will be in charge of the sub-topics.

A pre-Lenten party was held Sunday evening at the Shelby Settlement hall. An entertainment program was presented during the evening by the committee in charge of the party arrangements.

The Epworth league of the Methodist church attended the Richland county rally of the leagues Sunday afternoon and evening at the Franklin Methodist church, southeast of Shelby. Clifford Smith of the Shelby league is fourth vice president of the county group.

Young people of the First Lutheran church in this city presented the play, "Barabbas," Sunday at the Richland county drama festival at the Mansfield Senior high school auditorium. The cast, directed by Mrs. D. B. Young, included Rev. M. P. Paetznick, Glenn Stevenson, John Stock, Robert Boreman, Kathryn Reichhard and Mr. Tyler.

Members of the Shelby lodge of the Daughters of Union Veterans of Civil war will attend a Washington's birthday party Wednesday at Willard as guests of the Willard lodge. A special program has been planned for the guests from Shelby, Mansfield and Attica tents.

up 150,000 reservists and might call many more.

3. The chief of the Italian general staff, Marshal Pietro Badoglio, arrived in Libya where troops already were dispatched close to the borders of French African colonies.

4. France took defense measures on the borders of French Somaliland and Tunisia because of the Italian moves.

A report published by an Italian newspaper that Adolf Hitler, Mussolini and Generalissimo Franco would meet soon to plan "a common front" against the democracies could not be confirmed in Rome or Burgos and was denied in Berlin.

European Threats Ease Controversy.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Presidential hints of threatening developments in Europe acted as a damper today on congressional controversy over American foreign policy.

Administration senators found support from some Republican members in the contention that further dispute at this time should be avoided if possible. They acknowledged, however, that the foreign policy debate undoubtedly would break out when the senate takes up the $376,000,000 army expansion bill.

Senator Austin, (R.-Vt.), declaring his party viewpoint was secondary to his patriotism, said a committee inquiry had convinced him that the administration's encouragement of French war planes needed under the armaments program."

Senator Logan, (D.-Ky.), concurred in this opinion, asserting that President Roosevelt did right in helping the French buy Douglas bombers manufactured for American army competition but not yet tested by the army.

Senator Minton, (D.-Ind.), added:

"If everyone knew what the senate military committee knows, there would not be a person in the country who would criticize the president."

Testimony about the French plane sales was made public Saturday by the committee about the time Mr. Roosevelt was telling reporters in Florida that he might have to cut short his Caribbean cruise because of information about difficulties in Europe.

The information was discounted by some sources here, although others pointed out that the president naturally had access to reports not possessed by legislators.

CHOIR GIVES PROGRAM

SHELBY — A musical program featuring the high school choir was presented Sunday night at the First Lutheran church. Several hundred persons attended the special program. Other special selections were sang by the high school girls' sextette and played by Mrs. Frances Guthrie, church organist.

FORUM SEEKS 'DRY NIGHT CLUB'

Eighty per cent of the entire group belong to some Sunday school; 31 per cent belong to church; 16 per cent to the Boy Scouts; 32 per cent to other organizations, and six per cent to no organization at all.

The boys and girls who prefer places of amusement where liquor is sold were hopelessly outnumbered by those who would prefer "dry" places. Only nine per cent voted for liquor with dancing, while the remainder just want to dance and play games. Two per cent would like liquor "sometimes."

Only 34 per cent feel that Mansfield offers adequate recreational facilities for young people.

One of the interesting complaints of the group was that the "west end" young people dominate, or attempt to dominate the recreational facilities, and among the many suggestions offered for bettering conditions were "have more recreational plans and facilities for the middle-class youth and not so much for the well-to-do" and "don't let the West-enders run everything."

Other suggestions on the questionnaires were new Y. M. C. A. building and an enlarged Y. W. C. A. . . . more facilities for sports, notably tennis courts . . . club rooms for students where soft drinks are sold. . . more places to dance. . . . a "chatter-box club. . . .

William Layton, chairman of a committee recently named to analyze the subject of leisure-hours problem, made the report last night. Henry Sanford was in charge of devotionals.

PRESENT MUSICAL PROGRAM AT MEETING OF GALION CLUB

GALION—Music of Stephen Foster was featured on the program for the meeting of the Current News club Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. K. Cunningham. The program was in charge of Mrs. E. B. CRESTLINE GIRL WED SUNDAY AT LUTHERAN CHURCH NUPTIALS

CRESTLINE — Miss Gertrude Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elizey Weaver, West Main street, became the bride of Russell B. Tuttle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Tuttle of Galion, in a ceremony solemnized Sunday at 3 p. m. before the altar of Trinity Lutheran church.

Rev. C. H. Lange officiated for the double ring ceremony which was witnessed by a group of 60 relatives and close friends of the couple.

Mrs. R. E. Plummer, sister of the bride, played the Lohengrin wedding march as the bridal party took their places before the altar. Preceding the ceremony she played "O Promise Me" and "Because," and during the ceremony she played "I Love You Truly."

The church was decorated with palms, ferns and two seven-branch candelabra. Two large baskets of gladioli and stocks.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin bridal gown made princess style with short train, high neck and long sleeves ending in points at the wrist. She wore a shoulder length veil made with band effect, which was caught with orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and baby breath.

Miss Felicia Muntis, the maid of honor, wore a pink satin stripe chiffon frock and her bouquet was of pink roses.

Maurice Tuttle of Bucyrus was his brother's best man, and another brother, Kenneth Tuttle of Galion, and Ernest Weaver of this city, brother of the bride, were ushers.

A reception for those attending the ceremony and Rev. and Mrs. Lange was held at the Weaver home.

A tiered wedding cake and tall tapers decorated the buffet table where a color scheme of pink and white was used.

Mrs. Weaver, the bride's mother, wore a suez dress and Mrs. Tuttle wore mint green, both wore accessories of black and shoulder corsages of pink sweet peas.

The couple left during the afternoon for a several days' eastern trip.

On their return they will reside at 309½ North Market street in Galion where the groom is employed by the Gledhill Lumber company.

Mrs. Weaver was graduated from Crestline high school and has been director of the choir and active in other organizations of Trinity Lutheran church. She will continue as part-time bookkeeper in the Weaver hardware store here.

Joseph Seybold of Fremont, Charles Royer of Struthers, and Misses Martha and Margaret Overly were guests who joined the L. and M. Pinochle club members for their meeting Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Garrett. In the games which followed the serving of a covered-dish dinner, prizes were awarded to Mrs. D. D. Sipe and T. O. Nelson.

FATHER GETS STATE POST

Confusion in names led to a misstatement in last Wednesday's News-Journal. A story stated that Ralph O. Perrott, Bucyrus, former highway engineer, had been named Columbus district manager of the use and sales tax division. Perrott has joined the Ohio Engineering company at Lorain. His father Ralph O. Perrott, sr., has been named to the state post.

French garrisons in Somaliland, however, is viewed by Italy with considerable alarm not as a serious military threat but because of the serious consequences that might spring from actual mobilization.

In other words, an already dangerous situation has been made somewhat worse and there were strong indications that Italy might feel compelled to take "adequate precautionary measures" to counterbalance the French action. Details of any such plans were a closely guarded secret.

So far as the Mussolini-Hitler-Franco meeting is concerned, it was understood it would take place at some unspecified city in northern Italy. Foreign diplomatic observers regard the conference as a certainty, and expressed belief it would be aimed at laying the groundwork for mutual assistance and collaboration if the Franco-Italian controversy should lead to war.

Cabinet of Eight To Rule Spain.

PERPIGNAN, France — (Near the Spanish Frontier)—(AP)—Nationalist Generalissimo Francisco Franco was said today by informed border sources to plan naming a new government of eight cabinet ministers under the nominal direction of his brother-in-law, Serrano Sunner, as premier.

The generalissimo, these sources said, will retain his title as chief of state and supreme-commander of the army.

Franco has filled most of the posts on paper, these reports declared, but the actual change may not take place before the central zone of Spain is occupied.

Sunner is at present minister of interior and one of the outstanding leaders of the Falangists (Fascists).

The new cabinet, these reports said, will include General Francisco Gomez Jordana, now Franco's foreign minister, and Raimundo Fernandez Cuesta, minister of agriculture, as ministers of state without portfolio.

CHURCH ORDAINS EIGHT DEACONS

SHELBY—Eight deacons were ordained at a special service Sunday morning at the First Church of Christ. Other members of the church board took part in the service.

Those ordained were Tom Kirkpatrick, Glenn Strouse, Donald Workman, Earnest Keiser, E. B. anasdale, Art Reese, John Hoak and F. E. Marvin. Rev. R. T. Crowe was in charge of the ritual. Plans were announced at the service for the Nickerson-Walker revival which opens with a special service at 7:30 p. m. today at the church and will continue two weeks.

100 AT CLUB DANCE

SHELBY — Over 100 members and guests attended the dance Saturday night at the Shelby Country club. Music for the party was played by Arthur Shreffler's orchestra. Other entertainment was furnished during the evening by the committee in charge.

RANKS OF 'BOYS IN BLUE' WAVER

down the line of chairs daily in the Memorial building.

Mr. Shocker was born in the shadow of Liberty Bell, Philadelphia on Independence Day, 1848, and was promptly named for the third president. With his family he came to Salem, O., as a child and it was in Salem that the 15-year-old-boy heard the call of his country. He enlisted in service on Nov. 2, 1863 and served until Nov. 31, 1865, when he was honorably discharged from the Union army.

He saw heavy service through Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia. Soon after active service began, he was taken prisoner by Morgan's Raiders and held prisoner for six days before he was recaptured by a squad from his own outfit, Co. B, 12th Ohio Cavalry. He was in Stoneman's raid through the south, marching to Macon, Ga.

When the 17-year-old boy returned to his home after the war, he and his brother, John, obtained jobs with the Pennsylvania railroad company, his first and only employer. In later years he was particularly proud of his gold service button from that company, which represented 52 years of association. His brother worked for the company 54 years, one son, Harry D., recently retired after more than 40 years of service and another son, Thomas, worked for 21 years before leaving the service.

He held a life pass on the company lines and while his health permitted, attended practically every state and national convention of the G. A. R.

In April, 1870, he married Miss Mary E. Koons of Crestline. Surviving him are his two sons, Harry D., of Toledo, and Thomas A., Manafield, four grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. His wife and two daughters, Emma and Grace, died a number of years ago.

He was a member of Mansfield lodge, No. 35, F. and A. M., which he joined in 1899.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where it will remain until noon Tuesday when it will be taken to the room in Memorial hall where he spent most of his time in recent years. The body will lie in state until 3 p. m. with a guard of honor.

Services will be held at 3 with Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of First Lutheran church and chaplain of McVey Post, American Legion, officiating. Both Legionnaires and Spanish war veterans will take part in the services at the Memorial building and at Mansfield cemetery where an honor salute will be fired and taps sounded for the old veteran.

FINAL READING

SHELBY — The third reading and final passage of the ordinance amending the city's parking regulations will come before city council at its regular session at 7 p. m. tonight for approval.

The ordinance, if passed, would allow parking on South Gamble street from the first alley south of West Main street to Wall street. Parking is prohibited in this section under the present regulations.

RESINOL

'Not Troubled with Backache Now,' Says Mansfield Man

Foster Street resident declares the great Root, Herb and Alkaline medicine Vendol gave first true relief he has had in months.

If you are in need of a mild diuretic to your kidneys or a pleasant relief from constipation that is causing day and night pains, nervousness and many other outward symptoms, you should go today to Central Drug Store and let the Vendol Man explain how this medicine has helped a lot of people living right here in town of the same troubles. Here is what Mr. William J. Stout of 24 S. Foster St., Mansfield, employed by the Kearns Packing Co., says:

MR. WILLIAM J. STOUT

"Suffering as I did, you can understand how anyone would be almost desperate for relief. I'd been constipated for quite some time, and in the past year a severe backache developed that I never seemed able to get rid of. These aches seemed to be with me every day and stay with me into the night. I lost my appetite, too, yet I couldn't eat even the scantiest meal without suffering afterwards from indigestion, sourness, and nausea. My nerves also were pretty well shot and I never could seem to get a decent night's sleep.

"I tried various things but they didn't fit my case, but almost from the start, Vendol seemed to help me. It acted as a diuretic to my kidneys and gave marvelous relief from the constipation, then everything improved.

"Now, though I've taken Vendol only a short time, there's no trace whatsoever of that old backache, regardless of what I do or how hard I work. You should see the way I eat, too, since I've gotten back my appetite and can eat what I like without suffering afterwards. My nerves have quieted down remarkably, so much so, in fact, that I sleep like a top every night. Yes sir, I can heartily recommend Vendol to everyone who suffers like I used to."

Vendol has helped many people right in this city and nearby towns, so why not give it a chance to help you, too? Come to Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & 4th Sts., ask for the Vendol Man, and learn all about it. Most all leading druggists sell it.

Madison Features.

The gay, madcap spirit of "The Thin Man" undoubtedly inspired the story of "Fast and Loose" in which Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell play a sophisticated but devoted couple who get mixed up in a series of mysteries. Reginald Owen, Ralph Morgan, Alan Dinehart, Joan Marsh, Sidney Blackmer and Etienne Girardot support them. An important personage on the Madison bill is Ferdinand, The Bull, who capers gently through the Walt Disney film of that name.

The 20-minute "short" on the Ohio bill will be found to be more stirring than the feature. "Wings of the Navy" The patriotic short, "Lincoln In the White House," is one of a series of American historical films being made by Warner Brothers. It shows Lincoln, beset by enemies and critics, through the dark days of the Civil war, ending with the stirring Gettysburg address. The main feature, however, with George Brent, Olivia deHavilland and John Payne, has some thrilling shots of American aviation forces.

Accent on Youth.

The accent is on youth in the new college series, the opening episode of which is being shown at the Ritz. "Freshman Year" brings the romances, the squabbles and the fun of campus life to the screen, with a cast of younger players, headed by Dixie Dunbar, Stanley Hughes, William Lundigan and Frank Melton. Clark Gable and Myrna Loy go through some unbelievable adventures in "Too Hot To Handle," the story of a news cameraman and a girl aviator.

Madcap Girls.

If you can believe it, a bunch of society gals having nothing else to do, turn to solving a murder mystery which has baffled the police, and after much excitement, mystery and an Unseen Menace, actually succeed. It happens in "The Mad Miss Manton," a Park theater attraction through Tuesday. Barbara Stanwyck is Miss Manton and Henry Fonda is a newspaper columnist who fails to fall for the society sleuths, but falls for their leader Frieda Inescort and Henry Wilcoxon in "Woman Doctor" is a second feature.

"Super" Program.

Three of the most powerful names in pictures are presented on one bill at the Majestic for the middle of the week, starting Tuesday. Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy sing their way through a romance filmed from the old stage show, "Girl of the Golden West," and Robert Taylor stars in "The Crowd Roars," the story of a prizefighter who falls in love with the promoter's daughter. Maureen O'Sullivan is the girl and Edward Arnold is her father.

AN EMERGENCY

KANNAPOLIS, N. C.—(AP)—The long passenger train ground swiftly to a stop.

Passengers looked out in surprise as the train backed a hundred yards to an overpass under which workmen were putting the finishing touches — and stopped again.

They saw a construction worker scramble up the embankment and hand the fireman an object the latter had dropped when he poked his head out to gaze at the project.

It was his falseteeth. The train moved on

Questions Tell of New Jobless Insurance Act

Editor's Note—This is the first of a series of questions and answers pertaining to the new Ohio Unemployment Compensation Act.

Q—In case of partial unemployment, is the employe required to register at an Ohio State Employment Service office before his waiting period commences?

A—Yes.

Q—If an employe is required to register before his waiting period commences for partial unemployment, how soon after such registration will the employer be notified?

A—The employer will be notified within two or three days after the employe registers.

Q—If a minor is no longer required to attend school, and does not enroll in a school of higher learning, will the employer be required to pay contributions on his wages?

A—The employer will be required to pay contributions on wages paid to the minor unless he is enrolled in or actually attending school.

Q—How do you distinguish between "casual" and "temporary" employes?

A—A casual employe is one who performs services for a short time only—not to exceed four weeks of continuous duration—which services are occasional, incidental, and irregular, and do not promote nor further the employer's business, trade or profession, for which permission has been obtained from the commission. A temporary worker is one who is employed by an employer in coverable employment, which is in the furtherance of the employer s business, trade or profession, for any period of temporary duration.

Q—How shall we distinguish between "casual" and "part-time" employes?

A—A casual employe is one who is hired to perform services for remuneration in coverable employment not to exceed four consecutive weeks, which are not in the promotion of the employer's business, trade or profession, permission therfore having been granted by the commission. The Otio law does not provide for "part-time" employes as such. However, for the purpose of benefits, an individual shall be deemed partially unemployed in any week of less than full-time work if the total remuneration payable to him for such week is less than 60 per cent of his average weekly wages.

Q—How shall we distinguish between "part-time" employes and "seasonal" employes?

A—A part-time employe (for the purposes of benefits) is an individual whose total remuneration in any week of less than full-time work is less han 60 per cent of his average weekly wages. No employment has, as yet, been declared seasonal in Ohio.

How 3 Mothers out of 5 RELIEVE THE MISERY OF THEIR Children's Colds

VICK HOMES—3 out of 5

For two generations Vicks VapoRub has been mothers' standby for relieving the discomfort of all the family's colds. Today it is used in more homes than all other medications of its kind put together.

CAN BE USED FREELY . . . VapoRub is an external treatment. There's no "dosing"—no risks of stomach upsets. You simply massage it on throat, chest, and back.

ACTS DIRECT . . . VapoRub goes right to work to bring relief, two direct ways at once: (1) It acts direct through the skin like a poultice; (2) Its medicated vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are inhaled direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath. This direct poultice-and-vapor action quickly loosens phlegm—clears the air-passages—checks tendency to cough—eases muscular soreness or tightness—relieves local congestion—brings comfort and invites restful sleep.

DOUBLY-PROVED . . . VapoRub has been proved in daily use by two generations of mothers—further proved in one of the largest series of clinical tests ever made on colds. Just treat one cold with VapoRub—see for yourself how effective it is—and we believe that you, like most mothers, will always keep it handy in your home.

Briskly massage VapoRub on the throat and chest . . . Also on the back.

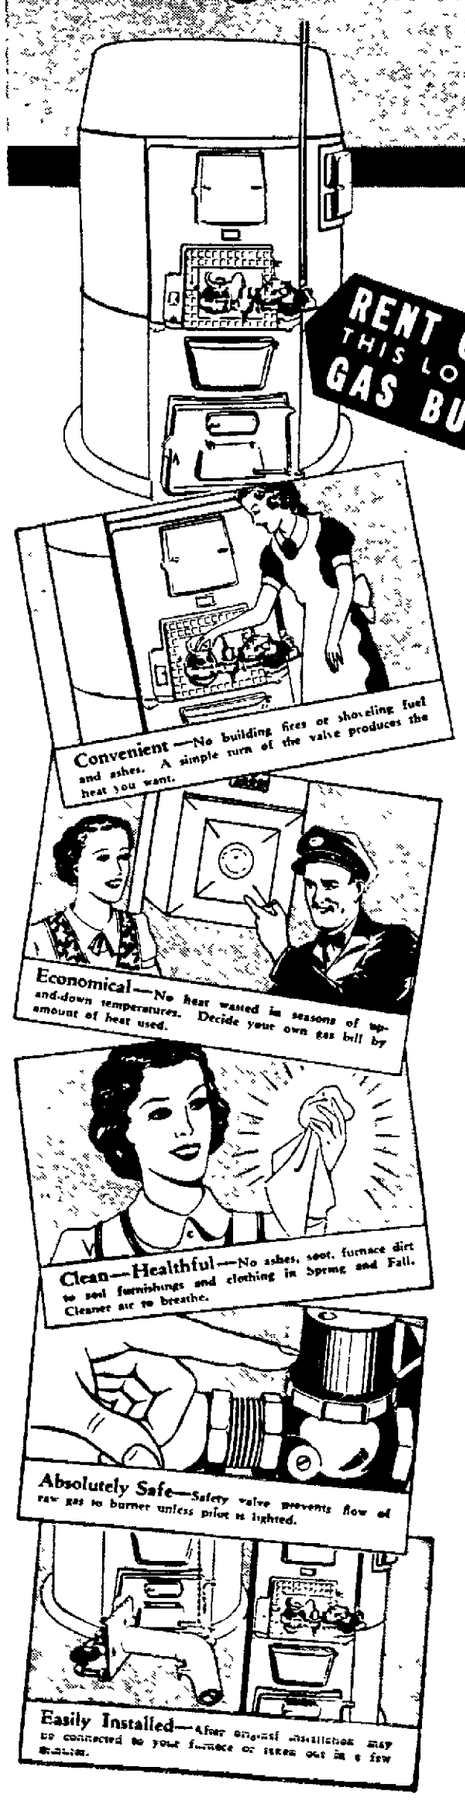
You May Be One Of Thousands Who Have Been Waiting For This— SPRING-FALL Gas BURNER



RENT OR BUY THIS LOW COST GAS BURNER
Convenient—No building fires or shoveling fuel and ashes. A simple turn of the valve produces the heat you want.
Economical—No heat wasted in seasons of up-and-down temperatures. Decide your own gas bill by amount of heat used.
Clean—Healthful—No ashes, soot, furnace dirt to soil furnishings and clothing in Spring and Fall. Cleaner air to breathe.
Absolutely Safe—Safety valve prevents flow of raw gas to burner unless pilot is lighted.
Easily Installed—After original installation may be connected to your furnace or taken out in a few minutes.

Gas Heats Best At Lowest Cost In Seasons Of Changing Temperatures

Yes, thousands of families are learning the good news about a new gas burner for the furnace to furnish clean, trouble-free heat in the Spring and Fall at a most reasonable cost. Many who do not care to invest in full automatic equipment are welcoming the Spring-Fall burner to delay the drudgery of furnace tending in the Fall and to dispense with it early in the Spring. This new burner that clamps easily into the furnace has years of research behind it. Also, it has withstood rigid tests in the laboratory and a representative number of homes under varying conditions.

What Users Say About The Spring-Fall Burner

A thorough survey among users shows overwhelming praise for the convenience and cleanliness of this new type of gas heat. Some 70 per cent of them said that the fuel cost was the same or less than solid fuels in these seasons. It is unnecessary to waste heat. You decide your own gas bill by the amount of heat you use. Due to an open winter, a large majority of those who used Spring-Fall burners in the Fall continued to use them through the Holidays.

Rent Or Buy It On One Of These Three Plans

You can rent this burner for $12 a year paying, if you choose, $6 now and $6 in six months. On rental service The Gas Company makes the original installation and will disconnect it in the Fall and reconnect it in the Spring for you. Also, you can buy this burner for $59.50 cash, or pay for it on a budget plan at a small additional charge. The third plan is that you can buy the Spring-Fall burner at the end of one or two years of renting it, applying one year's rental toward its purchase. This same option may be exercised in the purchase of full automatic equipment, should you decide to install year 'round service. Any of our employees will be glad to take your order.

Seeks Amendment to Bar Future Plane Sales By U. S.

SENATE GROUP DRAFTS ARMS BILL 'RIDER'

Proposal Would Ban Purchases of Military Equipment by Foreign Powers.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Several members of the senate military affairs committee indicated today that they would attempt to attach a rider to President Roosevelt's $376,000,00 emergency defense bill to prevent future sale of American-made military planes and equipment to foreign powers.

Proposals for such an amendment came as the committee began a study of the army expansion measure which was passed by the house last week with only 15 dissenting votes. Its major provisions would authorize immediate expansion of army air strength from 2,320 to 5,500 planes.

Completes Study.

The committee has completed its study of administration co-operation with a French air mission which purchased planes here for cash. It was believed that attempts to amend the defense bill to prevent such sales would precipitate another controversy in committee and on the floor of the senate.

However, restriction of foreign sales of military planes would meet approval of high army officials whom the president overruled in granting co-operation of government departments to the French representatives. They believe that no foreign country is entitled to benefit from technical advances developed by American manufacturers seeking army contracts.

The attitude of Republican and Democratic members of the committee supporting an amendment to restrict foreign sales was summarized by Sen. Bennett Champ Clark, (D-Mo.), a leader of the isolationist group:

"We are charged with writing laws on this subject (defense) and appropriating huge sums of public money. That is what I am trying to get at, so that we may write into the law a provision that neither the president of the United States, nor the secretary of the treasury, the secretary of the navy, or anybody else shall sell to foreign governments planes or munitions of war that might be valuable military secrets to the United States."

Gardener Blamed For Abduction of California Child

PASADENA, Cal. —(U.P.)— A statewide search was ordered today for eight-year-old Anna Louise Sweitzer, believed by police to have been abducted by a middle-aged gardener.

The child's parents reported that she was last seen with a playmate Sunday afternoon at a playground and that she had not returned home last night.

Police learned that Townsend Davis, 40, a part-time gardner at a home near the Sweitzers, frequented the playground. They went to Davis' home and his aunt, Mrs. Jennie Purcell, told them he brought Anna there, packed a suitcase and drove away with her in an automobile.

Before he left, the aunt said, Davis told her that he was taking Anna away at the request of her mother. He said Mrs. Sweitzer wanted the girl taken away because she was being mistreated by her father, according to the aunt.

Mansfield's six Chinese residents who live by the American calendar, paid little attention yesterday to the Chinese new year, the biggest holiday of the year in China. Only in the larger Chinese communities in the United States is there any observance of the holiday, Chester Wing, one of Mansfield's Chinese residents, said today. "In China there is feasting and celebration to welcome the new year on Feb. 19, and the children shoot firecrackers as they do here on the Fourth of July," Wing asserted.

Earl A. McFarland, former mayor of Mansfield, is having the "perfect vacation" on his trip through the southwest, according to cards received by friends. He said the weather was perfect, the roads fine, hotels good and scenery great. But in spite of this perfection, Ohio, he said, "still looks best to me." McFarland is on his way to San Diego, Calif., where he will visit relatives for several weeks. He expects to be back in Mansfield about the middle of March.

To prevent his being shot on future hunting trips, Mansfield scoutmasters presented Floyd Dent, area scout executive, with a bright red hunting jacket for his birthday anniversary, which he celebrated last Friday. Dent, who was shot during his last Canadian hunting trip, was told by officials that the bright color was chosen so there would be no danger of his being mistaken for a pheasant when he goes hunting again.

The Margaret Johnson who manages and edits an international children's page for the Cleveland press, and who left last week on the Queen Mary for Europe for her paper, is a former Mansfield girl and will be remembered by a number of grown-ups who once attended school with her here when she was Margaret Geltz. Her father, W. T. Geltz, operated a clothing store at the southwest corner of Fourth and Main streets more than 25 years ago. Margaret finished her education in Cleveland. She has several relatives in Mansfield, including Newton DeWeese, West Fourth street, an uncle. She expects to be in Europe for two months, obtaining new correspondents among the school children of foreign nations.

INQUIRY OPENS IN TRAIN WRECK

Two Killed, 22 Injured When Runaway Freight Engine Rams Passenger Train.

(By United Press)

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia.—Federal and state investigators will meet at St. Paul tomorrow for an inquiry into a freak accident near here in which a runaway freight engine collided head-on with a Chicago and Great Western passenger train. The engineer and fireman of the passenger train were killed and 22 persons were injured.

The accident occurred shortly before midnight Saturday at Tennant, Ia., 31 miles northeast of Council Bluffs.

The passenger train, running about 50 miles an hour on a single track main line, was en route from Omaha to Minneapolis. The freight engine was switching on a siding at Tennant when a steam pipe burst. Fireman Ed Sharp, Council Bluffs, jumped out of the cab. Bruised only slightly, he went to the aid of the engineer, John Anderson, Council Bluffs, who was scalded.

As they reached the ground, the engine started to roll backwards down the siding, pulling a loaded grain car. It crashed into the middle of a string of freight cars at a crosstracks, derailing four. In some unexplained way the throttle shifted and the engine reversed its direction. It sped along the spur, entered the main line and careened down the tracks for nearly five miles, still pushing the grain car. Trainmen estimated that it was traveling nearly 70 miles an hour when it crashed into the passenger train.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. M'KEE, 81

Millersburg Resident Was Mother Of Mansfield Woman.

MILLERSBURG—Mrs. Barbara Ellen McKee, 81, died here early today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bert Crump, following a lingering illness.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Alex Korn of Mansfield, and Mrs. Crump; two brothers, Sam Zaugg of Coshocton and Jacob Zaugg of near Millersburg; a sister, Mrs. James Conrad of Cleveland; four grandchildren and one great-grandchild. She was a member of the Methodist church.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Hunter funeral home with Rev. Joseph Henderson, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in the Millersburg cemetery.

EXTRA MEASURE

Policeman Rounds Up Cows, Hogs, Finds He Took Too Many.

SOMERSET, Ky.—(AP)—Fifteen cows and three hogs escaped from A. E. James' truck when a rear gate became unfastened. City policemen rounded them up, reloaded the truck and James drove to his home at nearby Danville.

But the officers had been too zealous. James returned the next day with a cow he said did not belong to him.

'SCHOOL' OPENS

Charm, Beauty Sessions Continue Tuesday, Wednesday.

The first session of Mansfield's first health and beauty school was scheduled to open at 2 p. m. today at Senior High school auditorium, with Dr. Alexander Davis, Miami, Fla., in charge.

The school, which will be held again Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon, is expected to attract women not only from Mansfield, but from nearby towns.

Tomorrow's session will be for women only and will deal with "New Scientific Truths That Women Should Know." Today Dr. Davis was scheduled to talk on youthfulness, the ability and value of complete relaxation for brief periods during the day, mental and physical poise, and the forces that destroy them.

The "charm" school, sponsored by The News-Journal, is based on the theory that beauty is much more than skin deep and comes from radiant health and the mental attitude.

PAY TRIBUTE TO GOODYEAR IN WEEK-LONG AKRON CELEBRATION

(By International News Service)

AKRON—A week-long celebration of the centennial of the discovery by Charles Goodyear of the process of vulcanization opened today in Akron.

Highlights of the celebration will be the rubber world's fair in the gymnasium of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company and the presentation of plays in the Goodyear theater for the visiting Goodyear representatives. Climax of the centennial will be the presentation of a bronze statute of Charles Goodyear to the city of Akron in a new park opposite city hall.

After the dedication ceremonies, a banquet for about 1,700 persons will be held at which Gov. John W. Bricker will be the guest of honor. A radio broadcast will bring greetings from Edward R. Stettinius, jr., chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation; Axtell Byles, president of the American Petroleum institute; Wendell L. Wilkie, president of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, and Alfred Reeves, vice-president of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, Inc.

The program for today for visiting Goodyear representatives include a welcome by Mayor Lee D. Schroy of Akron, tours of the factory and the exhibits, and presentation of a stage dramatization of the life of Charles Goodyear.

General Hugh S Johnson, former NRA administrator, will address the Goodyear representatives tomorrow night.

Charles Goodyear's home in Woburn, Mass., where he made his discovery of the vlucanization process, was dedicated Friday as a museum.

FINISHES COURSE

Hoffman Company Manager Returns from Cincinnati School.

C. H. Dietzel, manager of the furnace department of the Charles Hoffman company, had returned today from Cincinnati where he graduated from the Williamson Training school for heating engineers.

Dietzel received instruction in installation of furnaces and air conditioning equipment. The Hoffman company handles Williamson products in Mansfield.

MINISTER SLAIN IN ATTEMPT TO SEIZE PALACE

Four Others Killed, Eight Are Wounded as Troops Quickly Halt Rebellion.

(By United Press)

LIMA, Peru—Numerous civilian, military and police suspects were reported detained at the Panoptico penitentiary today as the government investigated a brief abortive revolt attempted early yesterday by Gen. Antonio Rodriguez, minister of interior and chief of the Fascistlike "Union Revolutionaria" party.

One of those held was Gen. Ciriloh Ortega, suspected of being Rodiguez's co-leader.

The city was normal, and the only sign left of the revolt was the heavy guard at the government palace, and the body of Gen. Rodriguez which reposed in one of its rooms.

Four Others Die.

Rodriguez and four others—a police officer, two civil guards and a Japanese struck by a stray bullet—were killed in the revolt and eight were wounded, including three police officials who were in the conspiracy and five civil guards

It was a strange revolt, apparently confined to a few people in Rodriguez's party and executed with almost unequaled audacity.

President Oscar R. Benavides sailed from Callao Saturday for a vacation at Pisca. Gen. Rodiguez, the revolt leader, was one of the cabinet ministers who was at the dock to see him off. Rodriguez then hastened back to Lima, to take his place as "minister of government," or cabinet executive, during his absence.

Rizo Patron encountered Gen. Rodriguez. It was now 7:30 a. m., and Rodriguez had held the palace with half a dozen men since two.

"I am the president," said Rodriguez. "President Benavides has gone to Europe."

"That is not true," Rizo Patron replied.

"So you do not comply with my orders," said Rodriguez, and started to draw a pistol.

Rizo Patron had taken the precaution, on entering the palace of holding his pistol concealed at his side. He fired three times. Rodriguez fell on his face, dead.

The surrounding troops moved in, there was a brief exchange of fire and the revolt was over.

BACK ON JOB

Legislature Takes Up Bricker Program Again.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's legislature returns to the capital tonight, after a week-end recess, for a drive to speed into law Gov. John W. Bricker's program for reorganizing state departments.

Bills to abolish the present tax commission and parole board were slated for action in the senate Committee hearings were called for both measures on Tuesday. Sen. Frank E. Whittemore, leader of the dominant Republican majority, said he expected a vote on at least one of the bills before the end of the week.

Passage of both measures—giving Governor Bricker power to name new officials—was considered virtually certain after last week's demonstration of Republican solidarity in the house vote on the unemployment compensation system reorganization.

MRS. STIMPERT STRICKEN AT 77

Services For Olivesburg Woman To Be Held at Home Tuesday.

OLIVESBURG — Mrs. Mary Louise Stimpert, 77, wife of Philip Stimpert, died Sunday morning at her home one-half mile north of here.

Born Nov. 3, 1862, in Monroe county, near Lewisville, O., Mrs. Stimpert had lived near here for the past 31 years. She was a member of the Olivesburg Methodist church, and the Ladies Aid of the church.

Surviving besides her husband are three daughters, Mrs. Carl Fulk of near here, Mrs. Wayne Markley of near Mifflin and Mrs. Forest Nelson of Dayton; four sons, Harvey, of Boston, Mass., Homer of near here, Frank of Olivesburg, and Earl of Ashland, and 15 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the home with Rev. F. M. Dickey, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating, and burial will be in the Olivesburg cemetery. The body is at the home.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Millions of Toilers In Low Brackets, Supposedly Exempt, Pay Income Tax

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—That which I am about to write may not be received as good news, but don't blame me because, after all, it comes from the treasury department.

Would you like to guess, or should I come straight to the point, that we now have a federal income tax on the earnings of millions of toilers in the lowest brackets who think they are exempt because congress has said that they shall be and because they do not have to puzzle over formal returns?

It is a surprise tucked away in the instruction sheet of the individual tax return. The news is broken in this form: "Tax withheld or paid under Section 801 of the Social Security Act for or in behalf of the employe is a federal income tax."

This means that the move to widen the base of the income tax has been accomplished quietly in another law, and if this statement or purpose were not enough to establish the fact there would be corroboration in the Social Security Act itself, where the deduction from the employes' wages to pay their share of the security bill is frankly described as "income tax on employes."

This is an income tax on gross individual earnings up to $3,000, amounting at present to one per cent but due to rise in jumps of one-half of one per cent until 1948, when it will be stabilized at three per cent of the gross earnings of each individual up to $3,000.

It comes right off the top of the employe's earnings with no deductions or exemptions for dependents or anything else. And it applies to a piece of hog-side or a sack of meal or a room furnished for the employe by the employer in lieu of cash money.

Of course, if an employe draws enough pay to require the filing of a return and payment of an income tax in the regular order of business, that is extra. In computing that income tax he may usually claim exemptions and reduction to bring down the tax and, moreover, the reviewers who comb the returns later on follow a policy of ignoring minor feats of chiseling.

They feel that it is a shame to worry the little taxpayers and make them lose time from their work at so much per hour or day and pay deficiencies and interest as well. But there is no bargaining with this new income tax. The taxpaying employe never lays his hands on it.

It is claimed that this tax on the gross earnings of the lowest income group is to be put in storage and kept available to pay benefits receivable by them at the age of 65 and after. But actually it is being spent like any other tax money and replaced in the treasury by markers bearing interest which it raised by taxation. This interest also may be spent and replaced by markers, or bonds, also bearing interest, and so forth.

Meanwhile, of course, the employer is matching each employe's payment so that by 1949 the Social Security will take six per cent off the top of the nation's private payroll for employes drawing up to $3,000. And in New York state, where a three per cent unemployment tax is paid by the employer, the taxes will amount to 9 per cent of the gross payroll in a large area of employment. And also, in New York and most other states, the employe who qualifies for the regular federal income tax must pay the state tax as well. That makes three income taxes for him.

Here is a curious little prank, too: if a cabinet officer, on a salary of $15,000 a year, gets an automobile as a perquisite of his job the use of that car is not reckoned as income, but if a small employe received food instead of wages, the value of that food is reckoned and reported, and he must pay an income tax on it.

There is one other class of citizens who are required to pay a flat rate on their gross income. These are criminals. The courts take the attitude that a man doing illegitimate business cannot have legitimate expenses and forfeits the right of deduction on the further ground that he elects to gamble against being caught and compelled to pay anything. If he wins he pays nothing. If he is run to earth he pays on his gross like the small man on wages hitherto beneath the interest and dignity of the treasury.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Hollywood has a way. . . .

There was Henry Fonda, some years back. If ever a young fellow wanted neither part nor parcel of the movies, it was Hank.

Why should he have? His days of starvation were over. He'd gone through that phase of his acting career on Broadway. He had lived through lean periods by eating rice—a nickel's worth swells up so fillingly when boiled. At last he had a contract, an informal agreement with a New York producer giving him $100 a week—and he was acting in plays here and there, in stock, and in general on top of the world.

That was when Leland Hayward, the agent, came to Hollywood. Hayward looked around and decided that Hank Fonda ought to come too. He wrote and telegraphed, but Hank said no. He said finally to come on out, all expenses paid, and look around So Fonda came.

"I'll stop 'em cold," said Hank "I'll ask 'em for 350 smackers a week. That'll slay 'em."

So Hayward, Fonda, and Walter Wanger got together in Wanger's ofifces here, and Hayward and Fonda and Wanger talked for hours—and still Hank wasn't interested. At last he was ready to drop his bombshell, his salary demand. He got up to go. "I wouldn't come unless I—" he began.

"We'd start you at a thousand a week," said Wanger.

At that point Mr. Henry Fonda, late of Broadway, went into something like a coma. When he came out he remembered nothing except that he had said "Yes."

There were no pictures for him right away, so he was loaned to Broadway for "The Farmer Takes a Wife." When Fox bought the play, they borrowed Fonda for it too—and that was when Hank learned about Dolly

He found her in his script—a character who said nothing, apparently, but was nearly always around, and with him. The script said so. "Dolly with him."

"Who," he asked Director Henry King one day, "is this Dolly? She has an important part, and yet she says nothing and I don't remember any character like that in the stage play."

Hank to this day hasn't forgotten it. He hasn't been allowed to forget. ("Dolly" is the truck the camera rides on for a moving, or "dolly" shot.)

He is wiser now in the ways of Hollywood, even though he is not much a part of it. Goes home after working hours, lives apart from usual stream of movie night life Mrs. Fonda is a non-pro socialite His earlier marriage—to Margaret Sullavan—ended in divorce before he came here. (She's now Mrs. Leland Hayward.)

His role of Frank James in "Jesse James" has ignited a career that had been "hot" for some time—especially after his "Slim"—but had never caught fire. Now he is doing Thomas Watson, Alexander Graham Bell's assistant, in the film of Bell's life, and then he goes into "The Young Mr. Lincoln," a real starring vehicle.

The Bell picture, for the present at least, is more exciting to him. He worked, his last two high school years, as a trouble-shooter, and he went to the University of Minnesota, rather than to his native Nebraska's state school, to be near the Bell laboratories there. To top it off, he wrote his final college thesis on the subject of communications. The theme seems to follow him right through the movies. "Slim," his best previous assignment, was a saga of the high-tension wires.

Snobs May Get Lesson From This

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A proverb says: "All the world loves a lover," which accounts for the enthusiasm with which England is greeting its latest semi-royal romance.

Queen Elizabeth's niece, Miss Cecelia Bowes-Lyon, is at last going to marry the man of her choice. He broke his engagement to her two years ago, because he thought he hadn't enough to offer a girl in her position.

This marriage will be a good stiff dose for snobs on both sides of the Atlantic to swallow, for Miss Bowes-Lyon's fiance, Mr. Kenneth Harington, is "in trade." To be in trade in England, not so long ago, was the social equivalent of being in the doghouse.

So Mr. Harington reflected as he continued with his highly aristocratic gold-braidy job as junior assistant in the diplomatic service. A nice, ornamental job, that of junior assistant in the diplomatic corps, if you can get it, but the upkeep is heart-breaking.

Evidently this young man had seen prosperous Americans at Ascot and in some of London's top-hat night spots. "How do they do it?" he must have asked, and was told that trade was the magic abacadabra which opened all doors to rich Americans. Then why not trade, which worked such miracles, the young Englishman questioned? Everything in the world was topsy turvy anyhow.

Resignation from diplomacy was the next step, and Mr. Harington went into trade. He signed up with a metal corporation and made a good job of it too.

Apparently, Miss Bowes-Lyon preferred trade and the sense of security and comfort which goes with it to the strain of keeping up appearances on the salary of a junior assistant in the diplomatic service.

Take Care Of Your Eyes

By MME. QUI VIVE

Starlit eyes, beguiling eyes, eyes that are soft and compelling. They impress themselves upon the memory. The eye alone can create the effect on beauty. If one has a fine pair of sparklers what does it matter if the saucy nose does not qualify, or the tresses aren't abundant?

We neglect eyes shamefully. We read in a dim light, we read for too long a time, we read on trains where there must be a constant readjustment of vision, we gouge at them with our knuckles. We hate eye-glasses, so postpone the fateful day of putting them on.

The human eye is a marvelous mechanism, one that requires little care other than consideration for its working hours and freedom from strain.

Considering the amount of dust that flies about in cities, everyone should have at hand an eye lotion, the principle element of it being boric acid, which is soothing and healing. To apply it do not use an eyecup, which is wasteful. Have a medicine dropper. Lean far back, administer a few drops, making sure that the lotion flows up under the upper lid.

At any sign of inflamation, or an irritation that continues persistently, hasten to an eye specialist. Painful infections have come from touching the lids with not so clean hands. When bathing the face use a fresh washcloth; soiled ones are an abomination which can cause serious eye trouble.

When your soul windows are tired, bathe them with hot water freely, then with cold. This does not mean a few dabs. Use enough of each to produce stimulation of the blood streams.

Be careful when applying a darkening agent to the eyelashes. Any foreign substance may cause trouble. Crayons used for making lashes darker throw off a fine dust that is no help to the well being of the soul orbs. Touch the little winkers lightly with a tiny brush that has been dipped in mascara.

Itchiness of the lids, watering of the eyes, a marked aversion to light, show that something is wrong with the peepers. A day of rest from reading or fine work may put them in form again.

My Neighbor Says:

For shallow frying, have one inch of melted fat or oil in frying pan.

Boiled potatoes are often watery because they are allowed to stand in water after they are cooked. As soon as they are tender when tested with a fork, drain and shake them for a minute over a low fire.

Glasses used in making jellies should not be too tall. Shorter glasses, such as the regular commercial half-pint size are very satisfactory. Molds of jelly removed from them are not as likely to break as those removed from taller glasses.

"A place for everything and everything in its place," is the watchword of a good housekeeper and the kitchen in this respect needs more attention than any other room in the house. The table should be placed near the fire, so that there need be no running backward and forward when cooking. Close to the table should be a cupboard, holding salt, spices, vinegar, flavorings and all the little odds and ends that one constantly uses in cooking. Around the sides of the cupboard should be hooks to hold cups, spoons, eggbeaters, nutmeg grater, etc.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"I am so stupid," he said. "I forgot to tell the manager where I was going, and also left no message for my office in the other hotel. I must attend to it at once. Permit me to put you in the car. Otto will take care of you until I cout out. I will not be long."

There was no withstanding his courteous insistence. He ushered me with elaborate formality out of the door and into the car, charging Otto with much impressiveness to look out for my every wish. Then he went back into the hotel, and although I could not see his progress, my mind's eye followed him back to the manager's desk. I was as sure as if I had seen them and heard their colloquy that he was making final arrangements for the planting of some carefully-hidden listening device in our room.

"I am so sorry to have delayed you," he said, with his customary formal courtesy.

"I haven't been at all inconvenienced," I returned sedately, and the amenities having been satisfield, neither of us spoke again until we were across the bridge and on the parkway. Then, as if the beauty and comparative quiet of the scene had loosened his tongue, he turned from the window and looked directly at me.

"You are a most poised and discreet person," he said, smiling. "You have not made a single comment upon this trip that I have asked you to take with me. Yet, you cannot help but be curious as to my reason for wishing you to come with me on this visit to Her Majesty."

I bit my lip to keep back a smile at his pompous reference to the exiled queen of Transvania, now "in sanctuary" at the farmhouse, and broke into hasty speech.

"Please believe me when I tell you that while I may have a natural curiosity concerning this trip, I have not presumed to make a single conjecture concerning it."

Curious Query.

He waited a full second before answering me.

"Thank you," he said quietly, then, after a moment, added a curiously hesitant query.

"Would it bore you very much if I told you now why I wish you to be present at this forthcoming interview?"

"You know that nothing you could tell me would bore me," I said extravagantly. Then I added with sincerity, "Indeed, I am tremendously interested in this trip Please don't delay any longer in telling me about it."

He leaned forward and spoke to the chauffeur.

"Mrs. Graham feels a draught, Otto, and I am closing the window. If you wish to speak to me about anything, draw the car to the side of the road, stop and knock on the glass."

"Very well, sir," Otto answered without turning his head, and in another second there was an effective barrier of glass between the chauffeur and us.

But even with the window closed he did not at once begin to talk. Indeed, he turned and looked out of the window for fully half a minute. When he turned back, his face was indescribably softened.

"The first chapter of the story I am going to tell you began many years ago when I was but a boy," he said.

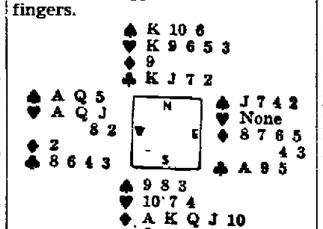
FEAR HOT POTATOES

DURING THE DAYS of auction, the expression "hot potato" was applied to those hands which are such terrible misfits that whichever side gets the contract is sure to be burnt. Good bidders always keep their eyes open to discern the danger that these deals extend. Not only are they careful to avoid the punishment that lurks in them, but they like to see the opponents burn their fingers.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

Just look at that diamond suit. And the same goes for hearts. Naturally both suits got bid by somebody at every table in the duplicate where this deal across. The course of the auction was governed largely by whether or not South opened the bidding first. If he did, his side bid diamonds. If he did not, East bid them.

In one case West started with 1-Heart, East bid 2-Diamonds, West, 2-Hearts, East 3-Diamonds and South doubled. West took out to 3-Hearts, which North doubled. East now, showing a six-four distribution, bid 3-Spades. That was the nearest to fit the side could find, but even this was set three tricks.

South made a third-hand opener of I-Daimond at one table. West bid 1-Heart, North doubled, East called 1-Spade, and South here bid 2-Diamonds. Taking this as a confession that the original bid was weak, North passed, and the side made exactly 2-Diamonds.

One pair got into 4-Diamonds in the East, for a set of five tricks, one West player was set at 2-Hearts not doubled, and one South made 3-Diamonds. Just why no North-South pair reached 3-No trump is hard to figure, for there are many sequences of sound bidding that could produce that contract. But nobody did. Perhaps it was due to a sort of jinx that seems to hover around these queer misfit deals which nearly everybody bids in a way different from everybody else.

Suggestions For Buffet Table

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

TODAY'S offering concerns itself with the buffet supper, since requests for advice and recipes are always piling up on our desk. The main theme of the requests is for something different. But we always tell our correspondents that tried and true favorites go best at a buffet meal. Surely, the variety of foods offered is in itself a novelty and permits the guest to choose something that is to his or her liking.

As for the buffet itself, some hostesses prepare a snack table, and for the main buffet, a tureen of hot soup, then one main dish followed by cheese and coffee. It is at the snack counter that the hostess can exercise ingenuity. For instance, how about cooked prune halves, cut side up, on strips of toast, spread with prepared mustard, sprinkled with black pepper and salt, and covered with thin slices of boiled ham, smoked turkey or roast chicken? Place under broiler for a few minutes and serve hot.

Perfect for Buffet.

Pickled Herring is a perfect buffet supper snack. Recipe calls for 12 salt herrings, one lemon, white vinegar, 12 medium onions, two cups mixed pickling spice and three quart glass jars. Soak the salt herring in cold water for 12 hours, changing water once or twice. Wash, clean and scale the fish, remove heads and tails, but do not skin. Split and fillet them. Slice the onions. Prepare a mixture of two parts vinegar to one part water and enough sugar to produce a rich sweet and sour flavor. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Pack herring and onion in alternating layers, in the sterilized jars, with spice generously added while packing. Place two lemon slices on last layer of herring. Cover each jar with vinegar mixture, seal, and let stand in refrigerator three days before serving.

When ready to serve, mix some of the liquid with generous amounts of sour cream, making a rich, white sauce. Pour over herring and onion, and there you have a marvelous appetizer.

Mixed with Herbs.

For canape spreads or sandwich fillings, try cream cheese mixed with various herbs and spices. For instance, savory or powdered sage blended with cream cheese. Celery seed and plenty of paprika to color make a good cream cheese spread. Curry powder and cream cheese with stuffed olive slices for garnish is another unusual combination. Chili powder and paprika are both delicious blended either with cream cheese or cottage cheese.

For the snack bar, have a bowl of fresh shelled (and cleaned) shrimps. Nearby place a bowl containing a pint of mayonnaise which has been well mixed with two teaspoons of curry powder and one tablespoon of chili sauce. In another bowl have spicy catsup, and let your guests dunk the toothpicked shrimps as they will. And on a platter have half-inch cubes of American cheese dusted with chili powder impaled with a bit of pickle and a crouton. Convenient to a pile of butter crackers have a liberal amount of cream cheese mixed with caraway seeds and black pepper. Have a platter of tiny but thick wedges of ham and a row of pots containing the various mustards. The main thing is to provide variety, something tasty and tangy for every palate.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, Feb. 21.

An extremely active and eventful day is presaged by the major aspects of the predominant planetary forces. There may be very drastic efforts in putting over important projects, which are likely to succeed best through strategy and undercover agreements, although these may also carry a menace of fraud, duplicity or treachery. Proper vigilance, precaution and personal integrity should bring surprising climaxes, with unforeseen good fortune. Conservatism in handling funds is also recommended, both in business and in private expenditures.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a surprising stroke of good fortune, if they will manage their affairs with acumen, vigilance and rigid integrity. A portentous situation might arise in connection with secret, illicit or tricky conditions. Beware of intrigue and suspicious propositions. Shun lavish expenditures in both business and private affairs. Contacts with strangers may prove profitable, but in all use caution.

A child born on this day may be versatile, energetic and probably aggressive. It may possess initiative to attain much success and good fortune, although it may be easily imposed upon or cheated.

When you have a saucer of apple sauce and don't know what to have for dessert, make a one-egg layer cake, dust the lower layer with powdered sugar and spread with the apple sauce (and this is improved if a bit of candied orange, lemon or grapefruit peel has been cooked with it). Cover with the other layer and dust powdered sugar over the top.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessens distress from female functional disorders.
